

Planners' pledge to residents over search for new site

MAST BLUNDER ANGERS FAMILIES

Report by Luke Bartlett

CONCERNED residents rallied at a public meeting to deliver a clear message over the installation of a 57ft phone mast in Netherton – 'We don't want it.'

Around 30 people on Monday evening grilled Dudley Council planning officials over their blunder which accidentally gave the all clear for the mast plant.

The local authority's rejection of the controversial application by WHP Telecoms Ltd was delivered one day after the 56-day deadline had run out – potentially allowing the plan to go ahead with 'deemed consent'.

Planning chiefs told people at the hastily arranged public meeting at Netherton Arts Centre that an electronic failure had caused the error, but residents were also unhappy about a lack of communication from the council.

The error means that the huge mast could now be raised next to Halesowen Road.

At the meeting, Dudley Council planning manager Carl Mellor said: "Our electronic record keeping systems, which we rely on for our deadlines, indicated it was in time but when we checked it we realised it was out by a day."

The council's alleged failure to keep residents informed was condemned by Netherton, Woodside and St Andrews ward's Councillor Qadar Zada, who said the council had failed residents.

Planning officer Helen Martin said: "I can't explain why nobody has had a letter."

Residents expressed fear over health and financial implications of the mast. Councillor Zada suggested that residents should be compensated as their properties could lose value.

Planners said they would be meeting with WHP Telecoms Ltd this week to discuss alternative sites for the mast.

TEAM ENSURE UNLUCKY 13 FOR TOBACCO CROOKS

Dudley trading standards officers, police and a tobacco detection dogs with a haul of illegal cigarettes seized from three premises

MORE than 150,000 illegal cigarettes and 1,000kg of tobacco were taken off Dudley's streets in 13 enforcement operations in one year.

The seizures took place at seven shops between April 2017 and March this year. Two prosecutions have since concluded with several more pending. The enforcement was part of a larger Trading Standards initiative by the Central England Trading Standards Authorities, recovering huge amounts of tobacco that would have resulted in a tax dodge of nearly £2 million.

The amount of illegal product seized has increased year on year, with the quantity of illicit cigarettes seized last year being almost 30 per cent more than a record figure the previous year. Crooks use sophisticated methods to hide the illegal goods, which means specialist tobacco sniffer dogs are required.

Councillor Ruth Buttery, Dudley Council's cabinet member for health and wellbeing, said: "Far from being a victimless crime, the availability of cheap cigarettes, undermines Government health policies. People may think they are getting a 'good deal' but they are actually supporting criminal gangs."

DEVELOPMENT

Concern over scrap metal process plant

A WASTE plant that would process 20,000 tons of scrap metal a month if built in Brierley Hill is facing strong opposition.

Worried residents say the proposed Brierley Hill Freight and Steel Terminal development – which would result in 1,100 lorry trips to and from the site in Moor Street every month – would be noisy and place too much strain on the roads.

Brierley Hill ward councillor Rachel Harris said: "I am very concerned about it. I don't think it's a good development for the area at all. It will be a deeply unpopular move if the council grant permission."

CRIME

Machete attack on men after street row

TWO men were left with serious injuries after a machete attack in Brierley Hill.

The pair were walking along High Street when an argument broke out between them and two people in a car.

Police confirmed the men were attacked with machetes in Hill Street and suffered serious injuries during the incident at around 10pm on July 22.

Police are urging anyone with information to call them on 101.

GOVERNMENT

Council is told to consider tax rise

COUNCIL tax could be raised in Dudley, following April's 4.5 per cent increase, so the authority can boost its coffers.

Bosses at Dudley Council have been warned by auditors that they should consider increasing how much they charge the borough's council taxpayers. This is due to concern over protecting frontline services.

The borough has had one of the lowest council tax rates in the West Midlands in recent years.

Long waits in ambulances at hospital

MORE than 600 patients were left waiting more than half an hour in ambulances outside a hospital in a month, new figures reveal.

A total of 603 people had to wait more than 30 minutes in ambulances outside Dudley's Russells Hall Hospital in May – an average of 20 a day.

The handover times saw a 60 per cent increase from the figures for April, which saw 240 patients had been left waiting in ambulances outside the hospital.

A spokesman for the Dudley Group NHS Foundation Trust said it faced a 10 per cent increase in the number of ambulance attendances in May, compared to the previous month. They added that the teams are working hard to ensure those who arrive by ambulance are seen, assessed and handed over as 'quickly and efficiently' as possible.

Also in May, 67 patients had to wait more than an hour in ambulances outside the hospital – compared to nine in April.

Karen Kelly, chief operating officer at the Dudley Group NHS Foundation Trust, which runs the hospital, said: "Our teams at the Dudley Group are working very hard to ensure patients who arrive by ambulance are seen and assessed then handed over as quickly and efficiently as possible."

"We saw more than 9,000 attendances at our emergency department in May 2018, which was a 10.4 per cent increase on attendances in April. We also saw an increase in the number of ambulance arrivals – an average 3,360 compared to 3,194 in April.

"We are also seeing an increase in emergency attendances among patients with complex needs and this has an impact on ambulance handover times.

"Patients requiring urgent clinical attention are always given priority to ensure they receive the care and treatment they need as soon as possible."

In March, a total of 288 people had to wait more than 30 minutes in ambulances outside Russells Hall Hospital – with 35 left for more than one hour.

MP demanding action over Russells Hall crisis

AN MP has held crisis talks with bosses at a hospital after several staff quit amid concerns over patient safety and bullying claims.

Ian Austin said he is becoming increasingly concerned by the claims emerging from Russells Hall in Dudley and wants the health regulator to investigate.

The Labour MP for Dudley North said he had spoken to Dudley NHS trust chiefs and requested a meeting with Care Quality Commission (CQC) and NHS Improvement bosses over the problems.

Several whistleblowers have spoken out about working conditions at Russells Hall. It is understood at least eight members of staff from the A&E department have quit in the last few weeks. A letter signed by medics was also sent to chiefs expressing a lack of confidence in their running of the hospital.

Worried

Mr Austin said he was worried the problems at Dudley's hospital 'go deeper' than NHS pressures from budget cuts.

He said: "Hospitals around the country are under huge pressure as a result of financial cutbacks to social care which mean patients are stuck in hospital, there's a recruitment crisis with 100,000 vacancies in the NHS, A&E departments have been in crisis this year and thousands of so-called non-urgent operations cancelled, but I am worried that the problems at Russells Hall go deeper than that and I have met the senior management team to raise my concerns. I and Dudley's other MPs are asking to meet the CQC and NHS Improvement to discuss the position at Russells Hall."

Hospital staff have raised concerns over 'bullying', 'patient safety' and 'professional conduct of the senior executives of the trust board'.

Bosses at the Dudley Group NHS Trust, which runs Russells Hall, have pledged to investigate the concerns raised and say retaining staff remains a 'key priority'.

Heatwave gives a glimpse into the past

Scorching sunshine has produced markings that experts say indicate where buildings once stood at Dudley Castle

MYSTERIOUS markings have appeared in Dudley Castle's courtyard and the phenomenon is down to the dry spell.

Scorching sunshine has brought out the markings, which history experts say indicate where buildings stood as far back as the 16th century.

Prominent 'parch marks' have been revealed in three areas of the castle grounds, showing the location of wall from the 1500s, an elaborate garden water feature from the early-1900s and a unknown building near the base of the keep.

Former castle keeper Adrian Durkin said: "I haven't seen the wall line across the far end of the courtyard for about 30 years."

"The wall would have enabled food and provisions to be bought to the kitchen without having to go through the main courtyard and is probably John Dudley (mid-1500s) in date. The large circular feature in the centre will be remembered by some as a garden feature but for the rest it is, of course, where the UFOs land! But it's the third marking near the base of the keep, which is a real mystery. I've never seen it before, we have not excavated the area and I don't know what it is."

Education Assistant Amy Hickman said: "It's all down to this exceptionally hot weather, which is causing history to re-emerge. These markings are like footprints from the past."

Conman's bid to get jail sentence cut is rejected

A CRUEL fraudster who tried to con money out of a vulnerable pensioner has failed in a bid to get his jail term cut. Terry Francis Collins was locked up for a year at Wolverhampton Crown Court on March 22.

The 22-year-old admitted fraud after donning a hard hat and carrying a clipboard to bamboozle his elderly victim, London's Appeal Court heard.

Collins had turned up at the 82-year-old man's Halesowen home on November 8 last year. He asked the pensioner about work which had been done on his roof, for which he had paid in full. The conman claimed the victim owed tax for the work. He demanded £480 in VAT for a job that had cost just £650.

When the pensioner queried the amount, Collins said he would 'settle for £280' but the victim refused to pay up, though the elderly man, who has had triple bypass heart surgery, lived in fear after Collins said he would be back.

People had tried to trick him before and his daughter had seen a camera installed. Police were able to recognise Collins from the CCTV.

Lawyers for Collins, from Foster Way, High Green, Sheffield, argued that his jail term was far too harsh but Lord Justice Treacy, who was sitting with two others, dismissed the fraudster's appeal.

Passengers warned of Euston closure

PASSENGERS from the West Midlands planning to travel to London using Euston Station are warned the terminal will be closed to over three consecutive weekends this summer.

Euston will be shut as part of Network Rail's Upgrade Plan, which includes replacing ageing North Wembley junction, a major intersection on Europe's busiest mixed-use railway.

Rail chiefs say it is necessary to shut the line in order to carry out the work. They is will be done over August 18-19, August 25-27 (bank holiday weekend) and September 1-2.

The Euston shutdown will impact all services on the West Coast main line including trains serving Birmingham New Street, Birmingham International, Rugby and Coventry.

Date is set for town hall vegan festival

THE Stourbridge Vegan Festival will open on August 11 between 10am to 4pm at Stourbridge Town Hall, in the Crown Centre. Entry costs £2 with children under five free. For further information, visit facebook.com/Stourbridge-Vegan-festival-358772547967607/.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Frontline police figures plummet

THE number of frontline police officers in the West Midlands has plummeted over the last year, Home Office figures show.

West Midlands Police had 5,630 officers available for frontline duties in March – down 566 from 2017.

Staffordshire Police also had fewer bobbies on the beat, with 1,440 officers this year compared with 1,482 in March 2017.

The number of police officers across England and Wales has dropped to its lowest level since 1996 and comes as crime across the region has risen by 13 per cent, with the latest figures showing huge spikes in violent crime.

Fifth of workers have second job

A new study has found that 21 per cent of workers in the West Midlands currently have a second job, earning them around an extra £3,500 a year.

More than a third (38 per cent) would like one in the future, according to Informi, who provide expert advice and guidance for small and medium-sized businesses.

Its survey also found that 57 per cent in the region believe most people will have multiple jobs in the future. 'Those who already have a 'side hustle' make an average of approximately £288 a month from it.

Much ado about outdoor theatre

AN open air Shakespeare production is to be staged in Sedgley next week.

Rain or Shine Theatre Company visit Brockswood Animal Sanctuary on Thursday (August 2) to perform Much Ado About Nothing. The play, which is being given a First World War setting starts at 7.30pm. Tickets cost £14 for adults and £6 for children on (01902) 884390, or see www.rain-or-shine.co.uk website.

The audience is advised to take along their own seating with gates opening at the Catholic Lane site from 6.30pm.

Harassment leads to man's arrest at airport

A MAN from Slovenia who harassed a woman from Stourbridge for two years was jailed for a week and made subject of a restraining order.

Drago Kisilak was given the restraining order until 2020 along with the short custodial centre at Cannock Magistrates Court last week.

The 56-year-old pleaded guilty to a charge of harassment without violence after flying to Birmingham Airport and being arrested by waiting officers.

Authority needs higher profile, says housing boss

NOBODY knows what the West Midlands Combined Authority (WMCA) is, according to one of its chiefs.

Councillor Mike Bird, leader of Walsall Council and the WMCA's portfolio holder for housing and land delivery, has led his first meeting of the board.

Among the items on the agenda were social housing and the potential of former shops to help ease housing pressures.

However, toward the end of the meeting, Councillor Bird said that people need to know what the WMCA is before they can really start working towards their goal of 215,000 new homes by 2031.

"If we get a site where the combined authority have assisted, we need to have a sign that says 'in conjunction with the combined authority'. Because who knows who the combined authority are, apart from the people sitting around here? Nobody. Nobody.

"We've done this with other economic developments, and we need to make sure that we're promoting our cause."

The authority was formed in 2016 and is made up of seven West Midlands councils, including all of those in the Black Country.

It has powers in a range of areas including transport, economic development and regeneration. The body was formed to help the region compete with areas such as London.

Off-duty nurses help injured boy

A 12-year-old boy was badly hurt after being hit by a car in Wall Heath last week.

Paramedics were called to the scene outside The Wall Heath Tavern on July 16 where the boy was treated for his injuries.

Off-duty nurses who happened to be on the scene gave the boy first aid before he was given pain relief and taken to Russells Hall Hospital.

A West Midlands Ambulance spokesperson confirmed: "We were called at 6pm on Monday. One ambulance attended. We treated a 12-year-old boy who was taken to Russells Hall hospital. A couple of off-duty nurses that were on scene provided first aid. He suffered a number of serious injuries."

Family history fun

A family fun day is being held at Dudley Archives and Local History Centre. Visitors to the centre in Tipton Road on Wednesday (August 1) from 10.30am to 3.30pm will be able to find out how to research family history.

Fewer jobless but more claim benefits

UNEMPLOYMENT has fallen in the West Midlands with the number in work in the region at a new record high of 2.78 million.

Nationally the number of people in work and job vacancies have also reached new record levels. Employment in the UK increased by 137,000 in the quarter to May to 32.4 million, the highest figure since records began in 1971, giving a record rate of 75.7 per cent. Job vacancies increased by 7,000 to 824,000 – the most since records began in 2001.

For the West Midlands the number in work is up 137,000 on the year. Karen Townley, customer services manager with Jobcentre Plus in Walsall, said jobs were continuing to become available across the Black Country.

Primark at Intu Merry Hill is looking to fill 150 full and part-time vacancies by November, TK Maxx is recruiting 40 in Walsall, Poundland has 20 warehouse jobs available at its headquarters in Willenhall and 250 local apprenticeships are available in Wolverhampton.

Nationally unemployment fell by 12,000 to 1.41 million, giving a jobless rate of 4.2 per cent, the joint lowest for more than 30 years, according to the Office for National Statistics.

The West Midlands figure was down 2,000 to 141,000 – 4.8 per cent of the working population. Over the course of the last year it has fallen by 25,000.

Average earnings increased by 2.5 per cent in the year to May, compared with 2.4 per cent the previous month. The claimant count, which includes people on Jobseeker's Allowance and the unemployment element of Universal Credit, increased by 7,800 last month to 898,700, around 97,000 more than a year ago.

For the West Midlands the number of claimants rose by 390 to 100,340, but Staffordshire had a fall of 165 to 6,975. Wolverhampton had a rise of 140 to 7,955 (4.9 per cent of the working population) and Dudley was up by 110 at 7,345 (3.8 per cent).

Secretary of State for Work and Pensions Esther McVey said: "This Government has seen on average 1,000 more people in work each and every day."

Sandra starts running to fulfil son's dying wish

A MOTHER left heartbroken by the death of her 32-year-old son is to carry out one of his dying wishes by taking on a half-marathon in aid of charity.

Stuart Barnbrook died in October, just five weeks after being diagnosed with an aggressive brain tumour.

Before he died, his mother Sandra, aged 51, spoke to him about what she could do for him. He replied: 'Mum, do the half-marathon, that's enough.'

Mrs Barnbrook, a supermarket worker, said: "I said I'd run to the ends of the world for him. So I'm now doing the Great Birmingham Run."

The race takes place on October 14, but for Mrs Barnbrook, from Brierley Hill, training started in the snow earlier this year. She said: "I realised I had started to do nothing other than sit around the house. I needed to do something that was going to make me feel better."

"When I am running I feel completely free, there is nothing else in the world."

"That time away from everything and being outdoors has helped me focus on what happened and it has helped me start to deal with my grief."

Mrs Barnbrook started her training by running regular 5km races. She recently competed her first 10km race.

She will be raising money for Mary Stevens Hospice and will be watched by her husband Andy.

Mrs Barnbrook said: "Stuart put up an amazing and brave battle, and was taken from us far too young."

The run takes place on October 14 for more details see www.greatrun.org/great-birmingham-run-website.

Stormtroopers nab Lego builder

Amor Lamine is caught by Imperial Stormtroopers during the Star Wars Lego building event at Himley Hall

THE force was well and truly with Star Wars and Lego fans as 500 of them flocked to Himley Hall for a special Lego live build event in aid of charity.

Stormtroopers were at hand to meet fans at the event over the weekend to raise cash for the Mayor of Dudley's charities.

Members of West Midlands Garrisson, a group of Star Wars fans, dressed up as Darth Vader's imperial guards. It was all part of an event which saw electrician Amor Lamine, from Lower Gornal, build pieces from his Lego collection at the hall throughout the weekend.

The pieces – including latest UCS Y-Wing – will be added to the Amor Star Wars collection currently being exhibited at the historic hall run by Dudley Council.

Mr Lamine, who has been building Star Wars Lego for over a decade, said the event went 'brilliantly'. "It was a cracking day," said the 46-year-old. "Kids came dressed up to get pictures with the Stormtroopers and the Mayor came along."

Motorcycle thefts 'epidemic' petition

A PETITION to has been launched to stop the 'epidemic' of motorcycle theft in the West Midlands.

Motorcycle Action Group, which started the petition, has called upon Police and Crime Commissioner David Jamieson and West Midlands Police to give the issue 'higher priority'.

The petition reads: "Victims of bike theft need more than a crime number, we need positive action that will deliver results."

The petition has so far attracted 196 signatures. View it at <https://www.change.org/p/david-jamieson-put-an-end-to-the-motorcycle-theft-epidemic-in-the-west-midlands>

Cosford ready for summer of spying

SECRET agents in the making are being invited to enter a world of espionage. RAF Cosford will hold its Summer of Spies Workshops on August 1, 8, 15, 22, and 29.

The events include Minecraft and Lego group activities themed around spy cars, creating virtual aeroplanes and code challenges.

The half day runs from 9am until midday, with the full day taking place from 9am until 4pm.

Entry costs £20 for a half day and £30 for a full day.

The exhibition, which runs until November 10, will see a two-screen projection focused on the gaze of two men whose portraits appeared on nineteenth century slides. For more information, visit: <https://thenewartgallerywalsall.org.uk/exhibition/grace-a-williams-intermission/>

More than a Lidl boost for sales in World Cup

LIDL supermarkets experienced the highest numbers of shoppers ever outside the Christmas period during the World Cup.

The Second busiest day in the chain's history was on June 30 with customers up 12 per cent on the same day in 2017. World Cup barbecues drove sales across meat and poultry, and beer, wine and spirits.

Police dropping hard-to-solve cases

POLICE are ditching criminal investigations that they believe they have little chance of solving.

West Midlands Police chief constable Dave Thompson said the volume and complex nature of crimes dealt with by the force meant that 'challenging discussions' were taking place over which investigations are pursued. He revealed that crimes including theft from vehicles, criminal damage and public order offences may not get past the first stage of investigation.

Mr Thompson explained: "We have to make difficult decisions over which crimes will result in us catching anybody."

Last year it emerged that the Metropolitan Police had curtailed investigations into shoplifting up to a certain value. Mr Thompson said that WMP would not be following a similar path. However, he said a squeeze on resources meant the force was having to look carefully at which crimes it investigates.

"Every crime that is reported to us will have an initial investigation to see if there is anything there," he said. "The decision we then have to make is does it move into secondary investigation because there is potential lines of inquiry. This is involving some challenging discussions.

"There is not a crime type we are saying we don't investigate anymore, but actually we are having to make a decision which says, 'is this likely to result in us catching anybody?'" This is more likely to happen in the volume crime areas, thefts from vehicles, criminal damage, some of the public order cases."

The number of officers on the force has fallen from 8,626 to 6,758 over the last seven years.

Violent crime soars across Black Country

Report by Alex Ross

VIOLENT crime across the Black Country has almost doubled in five years, while weapons possession has also rocketed, a study of new crime figures has revealed.

The statistics from the Office of National Statistics show a trend across Dudley, Sandwell, Wolverhampton and Walsall.

Weapons possession, vehicle offences and sex attacks have all increased. But the number of drug offences has fallen. Shoplifting, bike thefts and criminal damage and arson vary.

In Dudley, violent crime involving injury has almost doubled in the five years.

Rocketed

Police recorded 2,549 such incidents in the borough over the year up to March this year. This is up 20 per cent from the year before and a 99 per cent from five years ago. Violence without injury also rocketed, from 670 to 1,712 in five years.

Worryingly, like Wolverhampton, the number of weapons possession offences almost doubled over the five years. Drug offences, however, have slumped.

Overall, crime increased in the borough 50 per cent over the five years, to 21,411 recorded incidents over the latest period.

In Sandwell, it was much the same story again. Violent crime with injury doubled over five years from 1,838 to 3,378, as did violent crime without injury, rising from 769 to 2,260.

In Wolverhampton, the number of people caught with guns, knives and other weapons has rocketed by 91 per cent in the five-year period, by 20 per cent in the last 12 months alone. In Walsall, incidents of violence with injury went up to 2,558 – a rise of 70 per cent over five years

Pupils taught to use lifesaving gadgets

Paul Grove from FastAid Black Country trains pupils at Redhill School how to use defibrillators and how to perform CPR

MORE than 300 pupils at a school in Stourbridge have been trained how to use defibrillators.

Pupils from Redhill School were trained by a member of FastAid Black Country in a project spearheaded by the Merry Hill shopping centre. The project has seen Intu Merry Hill and FastAid Black Country teach children how to use defibrillators and CPR.

Intu Merry Hill has donated 14 defibrillator machines to schools in the Dudley area. The shopping centre committed to installing more defibrillators and increasing training after a colleague had a heart attack in the centre and was saved by another colleague using a defib.

Naomi Campbell, Community Development Manager at Intu Merry Hill, said: "We have been training them to use CPR and the defibrillators. We've been raising money to get defibrillators into the local community – we've now got 14 across the Dudley area. The one we donated to Redhill school was already sitting in reception waiting for us."

Ms Campbell said the training would give the community power to help people. So far, 1,800 children have been trained on how to use defibrillators and perform CPR. Intu Merry Hill has been fundraising and donating from its own budget to fund the defibrillators.

The plucky duckies are racing on canal again

THE Black Country Duck Race is back for a second year, raising money for Mary Stevens Hospice.

The Tenth Lock Pub will host the race on the canal on Sunday, August 5, starting at noon.

Rubber ducks will compete for the ultimate prize of £100, after racing down the canal to the finish line, helped along whatever the weather by the local fire service and their hose.

The pub will also be running a free family fun day with special guests, Ian Hamilton and Baggie Bird, complete with the animal man, ice cream, a BBQ, live music, children's characters and an outdoor real ale and gin bar.

Ducks are available to buy for £3 per duck and can be bought at the Tenth Lock Pub, Canalside Tackle or online via www.marystevenshospice.co.uk/event/duck-race-2018/ and the event is being sponsored in full by Canalside Tackle.

Amanda Bowen, deputy head of fundraising at the hospice: "It's events like this that make such a difference to our patients and it will be a spectacular community event which makes it even more special. We're so grateful to The Tenth Lock and Canalside Tackle for making it possible, and we can't wait to see people lining the banks of the canal cheering their ducks home to victory!"

Chere Griffin, Tenth Lock manager, said: "Last year we had great fun and raised loads of money for the brilliant work of the hospice and the families they support. Soon after we had a meeting to make sure it would happen again this year."

Sabbath and the Stones in display

BLACK Sabbath, the Rolling Stones, Nina Simone and more are the subjects of a photo exhibition in the West Midlands.

The exhibition, that takes place at Havill and Travis Gallery in Harborne, Birmingham, features a number of images from the 1960s shot by Jim Simpson, former manager of city metal icons Black Sabbath.

As part of Birmingham Jazz Festival, the exhibition explores rock and blues music in the Midlands.

Subjects include the likes of Mick Jagger at ATV Studios in Aston, Little Richard and Chuck Berry at Birmingham Hippodrome, Jerry Lee Lewis in the mayor's parlour in West Bromwich, Howlin' Wolf at Birmingham Town Hall, and more. The exhibition runs until July 31.

Broken Or Damaged Windows? Faulty Locks, Handles, Hinges?

Store gets a fresh look after revamp

A SUPERMARKET in Dudley reopened to customers following a refurbishment.

The new layout at Aldi in Saltwells Road, Netherton, is part of the company's £300 million investment into improving stores. The refurbishment included the creation of an additional three jobs, to join the team of 28.

Paul Lloyd, store manager, said: "The store is looking fantastic and we can't wait to welcome our loyal customers back so they can see it for themselves. We are committed to making sure that the shopping experience is on a par with the products and services."

Vulnerable helped back into work

PEOPLE with mental health illnesses or long-term physical health conditions are being urged to sign up for a pilot scheme that aims to help them get back into employment.

Dudley and Walsall Mental Health Partnership NHS Trust is launching the Thrive into Work programme to test a new employment support service offering one-to-one support. George Farmer, a manager at the trust, said: "Dudley's rate of unemployment is higher than the national average and these vulnerable people need our focus to help them make progress."

Some pupils too tired for school

MORE parents in the West Midlands are keeping their children off school due to tiredness, new research reveals.

A sleep study commissioned by online parenting resource Families Online, has shown that 10 per cent of local parents surveyed with children aged up to 12 had have kept their child at home because they were too tired to go. The poll also found that 20 per cent said their child suffers from tiredness every day after school and there was concern that children are not getting enough sleep at night.

Special needs views are being surveyed

THE views of children with special educational needs or disabilities, their families and carers in Dudley are being sought in a consultation which launched this month. The survey comes from the multi-agency SEND improvement board, made up of representatives from the health service, education, social care, voluntary sector and parents and carers. Visit www.surveymonkey.co.uk/r/dudleysend. Consultation is until September 21.

Single punch by customer knocked out pub boss

A PUB manager's skull was fractured when he was knocked out by a single punch from a customer, a judge heard.

Gary Redmond had a row with his then partner in the Seven Stars at Oldswinford, Wolverhampton Crown Court was told, this led to him insulting the girlfriend of the pub's manager Rob Eaton.

Mr Daniel Osocroft, prosecuting, said that she told Mr Eaton that Redmond had slapped the back of her head. As Mr Eaton approached Redmond outside the pub the 46-year-old hit him with 'an almighty punch'.

"The blow knocked him out and when his skull hit the Tarmac it literally cracked and he suffered a significant injury," said Mr Osocroft. Eaton sent a sympathetic message to his victim days later.

Mr Anthony Cook, defending, said Redmond had still been 'on edge' following an incident four months before when someone had attacked him from behind. "He thought it better to get in first," added Mr Cook. The victim was in hospital for four days and has since left the pub trade.

Redmond, of Church Road, Stourbridge, of previous good character, pleaded guilty on the day of trial to causing grievous bodily harm to Mr Eaton on August 6, 2016. He was given a 21-month jail sentence, suspended for two years, with 150 hours unpaid work and ordered to pay £600.

Martial artists' seeing Sense

A MARTIAL arts club is set to host a fundraising challenge to raise cash for national disability charity Sense.

Members of the Saracens Martial Arts Club, in Dudley, will take part in a 5k run and a number of mega challenges, including, kicks, punches and press ups, all in fancy dress, on Saturday. The members, aged from seven, are hoping to raise more than £1,500.

Sifu Ken Hoults, who runs the club, has been fundraising for the charity, which supports people with complex disabilities, since 2015 when he organised a martial arts challenge that raised more than £1,500.

Mr Hoults, 64, said: "I hope with the fundraising challenge, my group can achieve their personal goals and raise money for a good charitable cause."

Backlash after call for ban on Staffies

AN ANIMAL rights group has been accused of attempting to 'blacken the name' of Staffordshire Bull Terriers by trying to get the breed banned.

The People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals (PETA) has demanded Staffies be added to a list of species prohibited under the Dangerous Dogs Act, saying they are often abandoned.

PETA says the best way to end the abuse is to stop people breeding the animals but their call has been met with mass public opposition.

A petition urging the Government to reject the calls has attracted more than 160,000 signatures, with the highest number of signatures in the country coming from Cannock Chase and Stafford.

Across the county more than 3,000 people signed the petition, which was debated by the Petitions Committee in Westminster Hall on Monday.

Warley MP John Spellar and Stafford MP Jeremy Lefroy was among those to speak in defence of Staffies.

Labour MP Mr Spellar accused PETA of attempting to 'blacken the name' of Staffies.

Absurd

He said: "It is absurd that this organisation is trying to ban them, rather than deal with the vicious owners and those who get involved in dog fighting. That should be the priority - not damning a breed that is so appreciated by so many in the West Midlands."

Tory MP Mr Lefroy said 'the Staffie holds a special place in people's hearts' and that a positive view of the dog was 'widely held'.

"It would be a terrible tragedy for the dog-lovers of the UK to lose the right to own one of the great companions," he said.

Both MPs were praised by committee chair Helen Jones for giving a 'sterling defence' of Staffordshire Bull Terriers.

The pro-Staffie petition was set up by Steven Quinn, who said: "People create dangerous dogs, people are the problem."

The Government said it has no plan to add Staffies to the Dangerous Dogs Act.

Green light for 225 new homes despite concerns

CONTROVERSIAL plans to build more than 200 homes on the former Ibstock Brick site have been given the green light.

Dudley Council's development control committee last week voted to approve the plans for 225 homes off Tansey Green Road, Pensnett.

This was despite concerns from fellow councillors about an increase in traffic and extra pressures on nearby Russells Hall Hospital.

Work is also under way on the Tansey Green Retail Park across the road, which includes building a further 200 homes.

Councillor Bryan Cotterill said: "It is fine to keep building massive estates but what impact is it going to have on Russells Hall Hospital?"

"There is another Taylor Wimpey development a stone's throw away from this which is currently being developed. The roads will not cope. There is a constant traffic jam down Cinder Road. It is silly to say it will not have a big impact. But I am pleased to hear money will go to schools as part of the section 106 and we do need houses in the area."

Six objections were lodged against proposals for the 18-acre site, which also included concerns over noise during construction.

Disruption

But planning officers said noise barriers would be placed to combat disruption to residents during building work.

One member of the committee abstained while six others voted in favour of the development.

Ward Councillor John Martin welcomed the move, saying: "We need more homes in the area and it is a derelict site at the moment that could be subject to anti-social behaviour or even traveller encampments if it is left any longer. Residents cautiously welcome it but there needs to be the investment in the roads, schools and GPs."

There will be four single-bedroom, 57 two-bedroom and 61 four-bedroomed homes. Developer Taylor Wimpey stated one in four of the homes would be 'affordable'.

Parks fly flag among the best

SIX parks and nature reserves in the Dudley borough have been awarded Green Flag status.

Priory Park, Buffery Park and Wrens Nest National Nature Reserve in Dudley, Mary Stevens Park in Stourbridge, Leasowes Park in Halesowen and Silver Jubilee Park in Coseley have all received the Green Flag Award, which is handed out by environmental charity Keep Britain Tidy.

A Green Flag flying overhead is a sign to visitors that the green space boasts the highest possible standards, is beautifully maintained and has excellent facilities. Priory Park and Mary Stevens Park also received Green Heritage Site Accreditation for management of historic features.

Councillor Karen Shakespeare, cabinet member for environmental services, said: "I am really pleased that the hard work of our teams and members of the community has been recognised."

New-style lessons that may not add up

THE bold new future of British education. New government guidelines mean that from 2020, infant-school pupils will be taught about responsible use of social media, transgender issues, and the importance of getting exercise.

The only problem is, when it comes to those boring, old-fashioned fuddy-duddy subjects, you know, reading, writing and arithmetic, our schools lag way behind those of countries such as Singapore and China. Maybe somewhere, in the very crowded curriculum, is there any chance of fitting a bit of this stuff in?

FASHION brand Burberry has admitted to burning £28 million worth of excess stock every year, to stop it being sold to the "wrong people". Very public spirited. And talk of shutting the stable door after the horse has bolted.

ACROSS the West Midlands crime is on the rise. Big jumps in violence, sex offences and robberies. Nearly 3,000 offences involving knife crime in the past 12 months alone. Think about that for one minute – on average, in the West Midlands, there is a crime involving a blade every three hours.

Police and crime commissioner David Jamieson says more resources are needed. Of course he does. And perhaps people would be willing to pay a little more in tax if they believed it meant more thieves, robbers and hoodlums being put away.

But here's another statistic. Last year West Midlands Police dispatched blue-light emergency response vehicles to 94 reports of so-called hate crimes. Just 24 of these reports led to an arrest. In 20 of these call-outs, the alleged victim didn't want the police there.

Now, I'm sure many of those cases were genuine emergencies, where people were in real danger. In those cases it is right and proper that the police act swiftly and that the assailants face the full force of the law.

However, the fact that nearly a quarter of alleged victims didn't understand why the Old Bill were called in the first place suggests that sometimes there might have been an over-reaction.

Contrast this to the case of the baby abducted in the car-jacking last week, when police took 15 minutes to respond. The problem is that too often the authorities appear more concerned with people's attitudes and motives than what they have actually done. Wolf-whistling seems to be taken more seriously than burglary.

What will Sir Cliff do with his cash? A summer holiday?

Sir Cliff's wrangle with the Beeb... another addition to TV licence costing?

Trump and Putin – but Donald's paltry £3.1bn is petty cash compared to Vlad's Corbyn's poetic platitudes on hatred, but what about antisemitism? Sorry Jezza? Speak up...

President's billions Trumped by Putin

I AM grateful to the reader who suggests a simple way to break the deadlock over Brexit. Penalties

UP pops a nasty little email from TV Licensing headed: "You've just days left to renew your TV licence." This is the first alert, not the final warning, so why the threatening tone? Why do they make it sound like we've done something wrong? If they think "just days" is cutting it a bit fine, then why not give us more warning? TV Licensing has always struck me as a bunch of bullies and they don't try to make any friends. The sooner the whole iniquitous and outdated TV licence is scrapped, the better.

AND how many of us will be forking out the licence fee purely to pay the BBC's damages to Cliff Richard?

YOU may recall I wrote some time ago about our local council erecting, at great expense, an anti-caravan gate at the local park so immense and so strong that it would probably stop a Challenger tank. A couple of days ago ten caravans quietly set up camp in the park. The travellers had totally ignored the shiny, formidable front gate and slipped in through the rickety old back gate. Who'd have thought it?

MEANWHILE, despite all those dire warnings that the stern new MoT test would take thousands of old bangers off the road, my ancient diesel has sailed through. I am now thinking of changing cars. It's a choice between poisoning 50,000 people a year (diesel) or ratcheting up global warming (petrol). There is only one way to decide. Penalties.

I WROTE recently about the prospect of a second referendum on Scottish independence. The land border between England and Scotland is just over 100 miles long while the problematical border between Northern Ireland and the Irish Republic, which you'd think would be shorter, is three times as long. Even so, 100 miles is quite enough to cause problems and I can't recall hearing Scotland's plan for dealing with them. How on earth could they stop all those starving, envious, raggedy-trousered, post-Brexit Sassenachs from streaming northward to the sunlit uplands of Free Caledonia?

FINGER trouble. "Sunlit uplands" almost appeared as "unlit suplands." Come to think of it...

WHY did Putin look so superior and the "miss-speaking" Trump seem so cowed and confused at Helsinki? Leaving aside the rumour that the Kremlin has blackmail-grade material on the US president, consider the money. Money defines Donald Trump. He lives and breathes the stuff. The reason he treats European politicians with contempt may be that he knows he is richer than all of them combined. And then suddenly he is confronted by Vladimir Putin who is not only smarter, harder, fitter and infinitely more experienced in global politics but richer than him. Nobody knows how wealthy Putin is but by some estimates he is the richest man in the world. The Russian president could buy and sell Trump, and clearly unnerves him. Their meeting was like an eager but baffled old dog trying to make friends with a young, bored and extremely dangerous cheetah.

A READER admits he's puzzled by the seasons in Poldark (BBC1). One moment they're picking apples, the next it's summer flowers. He says: "Time does seem to be going backwards. When do the dead characters come back to life?" It is strange how film makers muck about with the seasons. In that fine 2007 movie Atonement, British soldiers are seen making their way towards the 1940 Dunkirk evacuation while walking through fields of stubble and picking apples from the trees. In May?

MY car hunt goes on. In the past I have found that the car that's right for you will speak to you. A few days ago in a showroom a gleaming white Audi convertible spoke to me very seductively but unfortunately Mrs Rhodes overheard it.

"WHEN we divide ourselves by xenophobia... when we divide ourselves by hatred, at the end of the day we all lose," declares Jeremy Corbyn, leader of the Labour Party which, 70 years after the Holocaust, still cannot agree on a definition of antisemitism.

TALKING POINT

Crime: All we really want is to feel safe

A YOUNG man I know was recently attacked by youths who were drinking outside a town centre pub, he having seemingly done nothing other than attract their attention by wearing his shop uniform.

The victim and a colleague were repeatedly punched and his car damaged. He got away and went to Cannock police station while they returned to their drinking. Any hopes he had of police swooping on the thugs were dashed when told there was no-one available to deal with him and could he return on Monday – this was Thursday evening.

He did return and make a statement but heard nothing. Is it too much of a leap to think these yobs will now be feeling a little invincible having gotten away with this brazen attack and do it again?

Sadly this is not an unusual anecdote in Staffordshire or the West Midlands. Newspapers and social media are filled with similar tales such as businessmen watching helpless as burglars ransack their premises, closed police stations and reported crimes not being investigated.

Many crimes, it seems, go unreported. Anti-social behaviour, vandalism, even assaults aren't reported because "the police won't be interested", we hear people say. The latest crime figures are depressing. Possession of weapons offences rose from 1,207 to 1,857 over the last five years in the West Midlands, from 313 to 679 in Staffordshire. Public order offences up from 5,368 to 11,579 in the West Midlands and from 1,813 to 4,381 in Staffordshire, according to the Office of National Statistics.

Half of investigations into recorded crime in this country are closed without a suspect being identified – HALF!

There will be mitigation of damage being collected differently, certain crimes more commonly reported now and some 'success' stories. But we don't need these statistics. We are too aware of increasing violence, anti-social behaviour, friends being robbed or burgled. These figures just confirm our worst fears and we are afraid. I'm cautious about where I park my car, whether my house is secure, about walking alone, about thieves or fraudsters targeting my elderly relatives.

But mostly I worry every time my children leave the house as I'm sure does every single parent as we witness increasing violence in the region robbing mothers of their loved ones. I'm tired of being told 'there is not enough money'. Keeping people safe, keeping police stations open and bobbies on the beat, surely these are priorities for any government.

"Where quality and service still count"

Brexit bullying tactics not democracy

ALONGSIDE many Germans, French, Irish and many other nationalities, I have just returned from my annual pilgrimage to the Somme battlefields and the ceremonies in remembrance of millions whose lives were sacrificed on the altar of militant nationalism in 1916.

This morning I received the emailed public communication of July 12 purporting to be from Theresa May. I have never seen such a dogmatic, vague, wishful-thinking, misleading and negative statement from any Government.

I still find it difficult to believe that the working people of Britain could have been persuaded to vote to leave the EU which, for all its faults, is based on peace, stability, collaboration and protecting the rights and conditions of employment, food safety, pollution control, international arrest warrants and justice. Did any of us vote to abolish these values?

Nigel Farage said: "If we lose this referendum, we will fight for another!" Now that the boot is on the other foot it's a different story.

The extreme Brexiteers are accusing anyone who still questions our withdrawal as thwarting the so-called

'will of the people'. The referendum reflected the confusion of the British people, not the will. Only half the population voted and that half were almost evenly divided - 48 per cent to 52 per cent. Only one quarter of the country voted to leave. That's not democracy!

What's done cannot be undone but what's not done can be avoided if only the people and Parliament have the courage to do it. The country is being run by headless chickens and a few ego-centric bullies.

ROBERT PERRY

Not such a special relationship

FOR once I fully support a Conservative Prime Minister.

The last time we danced to America's tune we went to war with Iraq, creating turmoil in the Middle East that spawned terrorism and mass migration into Europe.

I say to those who believe that we should give into Trump's trade war threats that the 'special relationship' is a joke and has been so for years.

To those who think we owe America for 'saving us' during the war that is completely untrue. By the time the Americans joined in, the RAF had mastered the skies. Most historians agree that if Japan had not attacked Pearl Harbour, it is highly likely that America would not have entered the war at all.

Stick to your guns Mrs May! The Brexiteers say we have the entire world to trade with, so we don't need America pushing us around.

Add Red Hall to list

THE article on the front page, Speed Limit To Protect Pupils, states that new 20mph zones will be put in place at 11 schools in the borough. I applaud this action. However, I am concerned that Red Hall Primary in Gornal hasn't been included in the list of schools. This is a split site school which sees staff and pupils moving back and forth across a busy main road throughout the day.

I myself have stood waiting to cross on the Zebra crossing, sometimes with pupils, and watched cars, lorries and vans speed by without stopping to let us cross. The introduction of a 20mph limit would greatly increase the safety of pupils, parents and staff. The article further states: "The 20 mph would only operate during school drop-off and pick-up times." I would suggest it needs to operate throughout the school day, in the case of Red Hall in particular.

Water tips just will not wash

I LOVE the Chronicle's resident opinion columns and the letters page.

However, I was riled when the Talking Point columnist rattled on extolling the virtues of water saving tips and belittling the use of jet washers - when the gardening columnist advised us to give our gardens a good soak!

Jet washers use far less water than standard garden hoses and can be safely used to water plants. Maybe the person using the jet washer had a long break between watering sessions?

People pay for their water so it is the responsibility of the supplier to maintain sufficient reserves.

Our friends at Seven Trent, etc, should concentrate on preventing burst pipes that damage property and waste millions of litres of water before flooding the public with water saving tips.

Model tried to make kidnapper 'fall in love'

A MODEL caught up in a terrifying ordeal has revealed how she tried to make her kidnapper – who had been living in the Black Country – fall in love with her to escape captivity in Italy.

Chloe Ayling, aged 20, was snatched after being lured to a fake modelling shoot in Milan and bundled into the boot of a car.

She was taken to a remote farmhouse where she was held for six days by Lukasz Herba, 30.

The Polish national, who had been living in Tivendale, was jailed for nearly 17 years last month after being convicted by an Italian court of kidnapping the London-based model.

Speaking about her ordeal, she revealed that after two days of being chained to a chest of drawers, she agreed to share a bed with her captor.

Bond

"The more we started talking, the more the bond was kind of forming and once I realised he was starting to like me, I knew I had to use that to my advantage," she said.

Ms Ayling says it was 'horrendous' when she arrived at the house and Herba said she would be sold as a sex slave unless she found 300,000 Euros (£265,000).

"I thought what he was saying was all true and I didn't doubt him for a second because he was so detailed in responses to my questions," she said.

But he also asked her if he could kiss her and if they could have a relationship.

"I thought 'this is my chance to get out'," Ms Ayling said.

"Once I saw his reaction to what I was saying – that things could happen

Lukasz Herba – asked to kiss his captive, says kidnapped model in the future – he was acting excited and really looking forward to it and always talking about it.

"It was that response that made me realise I needed to keep doing that." Eventually, when he realised the ransom was not going to be paid, he released her and drove her to the British consulate in Milan.

While they were waiting for the consulate to open, witnesses reported seeing them laughing together in a cafe.

But Ms Ayling said: "Why would you be 'offish' with the person who is starting to have feelings for you and is relying on that to release you? I had to Chloe Ayling hoped that getting her captor to like her might save her do everything I could to make him fall in love with me."

Herba was jailed in June for 16 years and nine months following a trial at a court in Milan. Ms Ayling said she felt vindicated by the guilty verdict after claims had been made that the kidnapping was a publicity stunt.

Police raided a block of flats in Tivendale after the kidnapping made international headlines last year.

She said: "I still don't fully understand his motivation. It can't just be money. He added me on Facebook two years ago. It's like he's been stalking me, so it must be obsession as well."

Top stylist cuts deal to work with college

A COLLEGE has launched a new partnership with an award-winning hairdresser.

Halesowen College will be teaming up with Lee Stafford Education later this year – as the only West Midlands college partnership.

Mr Stafford aims to create the very best training opportunities in the world for would-be hairdressers. With a launch planned for September, the aim is to ensure students are the most employable in the region and that Halesowen College is recognised as 'the place to train'. The college is one of only 12 Lee Stafford Academies in the country and expects to draw hairdressing students from a wide area.

Lee said: "I'm absolutely delighted to be partnering with Halesowen College and really looking forward to working alongside trainers and students."

Thrilled

Jacque Carman, the college's director of finance and corporate services, added: "We are thrilled to be working with Lee, who has already delivered the most amazing masterclass to our hairdressing students. This is an exciting opportunity for the college and I would encourage budding hairdressers and local employers to get in touch to find out more."

A former Hairdresser of the Year and Barber of the Year, Lee Stafford is well known for his television work. He has appeared on shows like Celebrity Scissorhands and This Morning, and his range of PiNK hair products are sold in 40 countries worldwide.

Students can apply for a place on the hairdressing course by visiting www.halesowen.ac.uk website.

Students Jordan Grieve and Samantha Johnson join celebrity stylist Lee Stafford to launch the new Lee Stafford Hairdressing Academy at Halesowen College

Honorary degree for Pc

A POLICE officer who runs an initiative to keep youngsters away from knives, guns and gang crime is set to receive an honorary degree.

Pc Rob Pedley, who is already an MBE, has served with West Midlands Police for more than 23 years. He diverts young people away from violent crime through the Precious Lives project, which has reached more than 200,000 teenagers across the region.

Rob set up the initiative in 2010 after being paralysed in a snowboarding accident. He will receive his honorary degree from Birmingham City University today (Friday).

Pub is simply the best for third year running

AN INN has scooped the Express and Star's Most Popular Pub of the Year for the third year running.

The Old Bull's Head Inn, in Redhall Road, Lower Gornal, was crowned the winner after fending off fierce competition – for the third year in a row.

The competition, now in its third year, saw pubs enter the search to find the most popular pubs in the Black Country and Mid Staffordshire. Customers collected tokens in the Express and Star and placed their vote.

Lyndsey Bullock, landlady of The Old Bull's Head Inn, said: "I was quite overjoyed because it's our third time, so it's a triple whammy for us."

"I did not think I'd win and when we were told it was fabulous news, really amazing. The staff and customers are fantastic so it's good for them because they are as pleased as me."

Heart

Mrs Morris has been at the pub for three and a half years and said she 'loves it from the heart'.

She added: "I think it's the customers. Pub work is not just a job, you have to love it from the heart which I do. People say to me 'how do you do it?', but I don't think I could do anything else."

"We work hard. Not just me, but the staff to keep standards up and everybody loves it. It's clean, they love the beer and the atmosphere so we must be doing something right."

The New Wellington, in Brettell Lane, Brierley Hill, came in second with The Island Pool, Wolverhampton Road, near Kidderminster, third.

Alex Colbourne, manager at The New Wellington, said: "We're quite

At the New Wellington barmain Sami Wright, left, with chef Kelsey Hutton amazed to see how well the pub has been doing. It just keeps on getting busier and busier. A big thank you for all of our customers."

Mr Colbourne, who has been manager since the pub opened last year, said 'consistency' was the key to success.

He said: "We've got a really good team here. Everybody here knows to work with everybody else and team works well with each other."

Deputy manager at The Island Pool, Aaron Drew, said: "We could not have done it without our customers. We're pleased to place in the top three but disappointed not to be number one."

"We would like to push on and improve further and get to that spot."

Such and honour – as Beverley Knight meets Michelle Obama

‘Greatest day’ as singer Bev teams up with ex-First Lady

By Megan Archer

USED to dealing with starstruck fans, this time it was Beverley Knight's turn to be in complete and utter awe as she met former First Lady of the United States of America.

The Wolverhampton-born singer had travelled to Edinburgh to perform at Sir Tom Hunter's charitable foundation dinner when she came face to face with Michelle Obama.

“Meeting Michelle Obama was without a doubt one of the greatest moments of my life,” said Beverley.

“I was truly in the presence of greatness. The weight of her legacy, especially as a black woman from an ordinary background, almost overwhelmed me; she is such an inspiration to me.”

The soul singer also shared her excitement on social media site Twitter.

“I just met Michelle Obama!” she wrote. “Still cannot believe I met the Great Lady. Joy!”

She shared a photo of the pair, showing Mrs Obama with her arm around the former Highfields School student.

“What an extraordinary night,” she added: “Thank you Sir Tom and all your guests for making many thousands of young lives better, and making this lady's dream a reality.”

Multi-million pound fund to boost skills

THE region is building a multi-million pound war chest to address the region's chronic skills shortage, Mayor of the West Midlands, Andy Street, has said.

Speaking at the launch of the Government's new £69 million skills deal for the region – the first in the country – the mayor said a number of elements were ‘falling into place’ to combat the lack of training opportunities.

Although job creation is surging across parts of the West Midlands, employers have raised concerns that a long-term skills shortage is a barrier for growth that will hinder economic prosperity.

The deal, which was announced by Education Secretary Damian Hinds, will fund the creation of new apprenticeships and careers advice, improve facilities in local colleges and pilot a National Retaining Scheme to drive adult learning and retraining.

Violent thug banned after terrorising neighbours

Report by Richard Guttridge

A YOB who terrorised an estate, launching attacks on his neighbours, has been banned from the area for two years.

Neighbour from hell George McCreight threatened another resident and was accused of widespread intimidation. He proved to be such a nightmare for tenants that Dudley Council took the step of serving him with an injunction, ordering him to leave.

Action was taken following reports about his behaviour on the Highfields estate in Halesowen.

The 21-year-old, of Bredon Court, Halesowen, who was convicted of threatening a neighbour and has previously been found guilty of theft and also of possession of cannabis, battery and racially aggravated harassment, is now banned from the estate.

Housing

He is not allowed within the boundaries of Stourbridge Road, Alexandra Road, Hagley Road, Bromsgrove Road and Whitehall Road.

Housing boss Councillor Laura Taylor said concern for other residents on the estate had forced the authority to act.

She said: “Serving an injunction against a problem individual is not an action taken lightly by the authority but we felt we needed to show not only that we were listening to residents but that we will take action against individuals who feel the need to blight an ever-improving community.”

“McCreight caused significant issues affecting a number of households with fear of widespread intimidation, harassment and violence. This injunction will not only safeguard residents in the locality but will provide further confidence and reassurance to all of our residents.”

Anyone who sees McCreight breaking the conditions of this injunction is asked call the police on 101.

£1m investment to get rid of potholes

More than £1 million will be ploughed into improving crumbling roads in a Black Country borough.

The major investment has been announced by Sandwell Council after it was revealed the number of potholes across the area had almost doubled in the space of a year.

It is hoped repairing the roads now will help prevent the emergence of potholes next winter.

The cold snap at the start of the year took its toll on the borough's roads. More than 2,000 potholes have been reported by drivers in the borough since the start of the year. Highway chiefs said 61 roads had been resurfaced since spring.

The work is expected to cost around £1m and will be in addition to further planned resurfacing and reconstruction work that will be carried out throughout the remainder of the year.

Sandwell Council's cabinet member for highways and environment Councillor David Hosell said: “The roads were severely impacted by the winter's sustained bad weather. We had freezing temperatures and snow on the ground for many months.”

“We've committed this money not only to pothole repairs but to resurfacing roads extensively to protect them for years to come.”

“I was amazed on my first visit to the store just how much choice and variety of beautiful furniture there is ”

School goes from strength to strength

Commercial feature

Providing an education with a difference in Wolverhampton, West Midlands UTC has been going from strength to strength since opening in 2016.

The school's outstanding and innovative approach is unique, combining traditional academic qualifications with technical qualifications which have a core focus on design, innovation, architecture and construction.

Last month's Ofsted inspection rated the UTC as 'Good' with 'Outstanding' features. Students receive first class teaching with unparalleled industry opportunities thanks to excellent employer links.

With support from the University of Wolverhampton, students are equipped for life beyond the classroom, developing advanced skills for future success.

Facilities

The university is also working with the UTC to offer a Diploma in Sport and Physical Activity making best use of their amazing facilities.

In addition to this, the UTC works in collaboration with the prestigious Thomas Telford School to maintain the highest standards in Teaching and Learning.

All students go on to further or higher education, work or apprenticeships – an area where the school exceeds the national average.

A number of leavers have recently secured apprenticeship positions with Balfour Beatty Vinci, RMD Kwiform and Pasquil, to name but a few.

The Employer Project experiences, specialist curriculum and work experience all combined to help secure these coveted roles, setting them up for excellent professional careers. The professional standards that the school instills help set students up for a successful future.

West Midlands UTC Principal Av Gill and students celebrate the 'Good' Ofsted rating received after the inspection that took place last month

The UTC are very proud of the positive learning environment they have created; based in an outstanding new building at the Springfield Campus, equipped with the very latest facilities, where young people grow in confidence and thrive.

Many have been shortlisted for awards such as Wolverhampton's Young Citizen of the Year and even won competitions including the DIGI's and the Global Challenge Competition.

The young people are a credit to the school.

If you are looking for a school which provides an academic pathway alongside the opportunity to develop real employability skills then the West Midlands UTC is the ideal choice. Places are available for Year 10 and sixth form starters to join the school in September.

The UTC are happy to welcome you and your family to visit and find out more over the summer break. Chair of Governors Kerrie Jones said: "As Chair of Governors, I am delighted with the Ofsted judgement the UTC has received of 'Good' with 'Outstanding' elements which I believe is due to the exceptional teamwork of the principal and staff in a short period of time.

"I would also like to thank our employer partners for their tremendous support, which was also recognised by Ofsted, ensuring that the UTC is extremely well integrated into its locale and the construction and built environment sector." Principal Av Gill added: "I am proud that the UTC has been recognised as a 'Good' school and 'Outstanding' for the Personal Development and Welfare of our young people.

"This judgement is a testament to the hard work of both staff and students.

"Inspectors recognised many positive attributes including the fantastic partnership with employers which gives our students the edge when it comes to future employability."

Golfers and racers chip in for charities

Tom Pain from the pro shop, volunteer Dave Moore, Ange and John Gaskell and Dave Pain, club director, with players

GOLFERS from the Black Country chipped in to raise more than £14,000 for a cancer foundation.

Ange and John Gaskell hosted their 10th event for the Rainbow Cancer Care Foundation at Cleobury Mortimer Golf Club.

The golf day saw 160 players battle it out for individual men and women honours and spot prizes.

Mr Gaskell, who runs Revs Suspension Services in Halesowen and is a former British and European sidcar trials champion, said: "It was a great day of fun and laughter and enjoyment, whilst raising a huge amount of money for several supported charities, which included Midlands Air Ambulance, Macmillan Nurses and Kidderminster Prostate Cancer Care.

"The first total lodged is in excess of £14,000, with two more events to run this calendar year.

"A big thank you to Cleobury Mortimer Golf Club and all our sponsors and players for helping us to raise this amazing amount.

"We'd like to thank our sponsors - Streetbike in Halesowen, Thermotech Ltd, Motorline Toyota in Stourbridge, Rygor Mercedes in Worcester, Motorcycle Mart in Kidderminster, Double Two Racing, MFB, Moto Mark Racing in Wollaston and Classic Restoration."

Pete Wright, from Tividale, who races in the No Limits endurance series under the Double Two Racing banner with Martyn Siviter, from Blackheath, had his race-winning bikes on display during the event.

Mr Wright said: "The team bought along both race bikes, sponsored two holes and auctioned off prizes such as a hospitality day out at one of our races and an amazing chance to see the British Superbike premier finale showdown event at Brands Hatch.

"All in all it was a great day."

Location of girls' school confirmed

CONCERNED residents flocked to a school hall to have their say on controversial plans for a 750-pupil girls' boarding school.

The public event, held at Old Swinford Hospital, on Heath Lane, saw members of the community questioning headteacher Paul Kilbride over the proposals.

It was confirmed the site being considered for the new free school was off Norton Road, opposite the Roman Catholic graveyard, owned by the Thomas Foley Foundation. Speaking at the meeting, Old Swinford Hospital headteacher Mr Kilbride said: "We are in consultation with planning consultants because there is precedent for education buildings being put on that land."

He said the new school would be targeting 'disadvantaged girls', adding: "It is non-selective, it is not a grammar school, it is a non-denomination school and a single sex school. Stourbridge frankly does not need another secondary school, but the Black Country certainly does"

Donald and Barbara Hall enjoying their colourful best yet garden display at their home in Netherton

Donald and Barbara's colourful garden joy

A BLACK Country pensioner has spoken of his pride for his garden, which is basking in the glory of the great British summer.

Donald Hall, from Abingdon Road, Netherton, has previously won awards for his garden, which he tends to alongside his wife Barbara, a former florist.

Mr Hall described tending to his garden as 'therapeutic' after having 10 major operations and said it's the 'nicest garden' he and his wife have ever had.

He said: "I can't do heavy work and being in the garden is not heavy work, it's mainly planting pots in the potting shed.

"Being in the garden and going fishing makes me feel pretty well after my operations, it's really therapeutic.

"I've been gardening for a good few years. I'm not bragging but it's the nicest garden we've ever had.

"A few years ago, when we entered the garden competition we won it and the next year we finished second"

The 79-year-old added: "It's absolutely full of colour. Everywhere there is a bit of soil there are plants.

"They're all around the walls and on the stands there's hanging baskets.

"I've never seen it so beautiful."

Stun gun drug dealer jailed for five years

A DRUG dealer, who kept a stun gun disguised as a torch hidden in his bedroom, has been jailed for five years.

Police found the weapon together with £1,200 worth of cannabis bagged up and ready for sale when they swooped on the home of Stefan Gregg and his partner Michelle Hirst.

Officers also found a nunchucks martial arts weapon and an air gun together with a mobile phone which had been used by 27-year-old Gregg to advertise the sale of 'high grade' cannabis, Wolverhampton Crown Court was told.

Mr Mark Phillips, prosecuting, revealed: "There was a lot of evidence of his dealing. It was being run as a profitable business but did not involve a very wide group of people."

Hirst was wrapping up the cannabis into street deals when police raided the couple's home in Haywharf Road, Pensnett, in 2016 but the mother-of-two played a minor role in the operation, it was said.

Meter

Gregg pleaded guilty to being in possession of a disguised firearm but insisted he thought it was a torch and not a weapon when he bought it at a car boot sale.

The defendant said he wanted it to read the electricity meter in the dark but never used it because they switched to a smart meter. It transpired he already had a torch for night fishing and told police in an interview that there were several more in the house.

The prosecutor maintained: "You bought the disguised firearm because you are a man with a fascination for weapons."

The torch worked but the Chinese-made Taser-style stun gun did not when tested by a weapons expert. Mr Phillips conceded: "We cannot say with certainty that it was ever capable of being fired."

Judge Barry Berlin ruled: "The Nunchucks, BB gun and stun gun fit in with the pattern of a drug dealer seeking to protect himself."

Gregg, who also admitted possession of cannabis with intent to supply, was jailed for a total of five years. Hirst was given a three month prison term suspended for two years with 100 hours community service after pleading guilty to the same offence.

Luxury car owners alerted over thefts

OWNERS of high-performance vehicles are being urged to be on alert for theft after a spate of stolen vehicles in South Staffordshire.

Since May there have been more than 50 crimes including thefts, attempted thefts and car key burglaries reported across the area.

Thieves are targeting high value performance vehicles such as Audi, Mercedes and BMW and Fords which are left parked on driveways or in the street. The majority of thefts occur overnight and the cars targeted are less than three years old. There have also been a number of Transit vans stolen, again from residential areas.

Detective Inspector John Quilty from Staffordshire Police's Criminal Investigation Department, said: "Vehicle security technology is constantly being advanced by manufacturers but unfortunately technology is also being developed and used by criminals to combat these new measures."

Stars aligning for the Lunar Festival

Goldfrapp, The Stranglers and Basement Jaxx will be among the star attractions when revellers gather at Tanworth In Arden for this weekend's Lunar Festival. The event kicks off today (Thursday) and will continue tomorrow and on Saturday and Sunday.

The headliners will be joined by Amadou and Mariam, Songhoy Blues, The Go! Team, Crazy P, Hookworm, A Guy Called Gerald, Jane Weaver, Boy Azoog, The Unthanks, Blackash, Trojan Sound System, Dam Suzuki, The Pretty Things and Henge.

Mark Radcliffe's Galleon Blast will also feature as will former World Champion snooker star Steve Davis, who reinvented himself as a DJ.

Davis was the most successful professional snooker player of the 1980s, winning a total of 28 major ranking events including six World Championships. In recent years his involvement in snooker has been limited mainly to TV punditry, which has given him far more time to indulge in his musical hobby, namely collecting left-field music from around the globe and presenting a weekly radio show on PhoenixFM and monthly residency on NTS Radio with Kavus Torabi.

ELECTRONICA

His favourite band is Magma and it was well documented that at the end of the 80s he brought them to London for a series of shows. His musical tastes range from quality 70s prog, Canterbury and Zeuhl through to modern day Rock in Opposition and Avant-Progressive and further into left-field electronica and IDM.

A spokesman for the event says fans are in for an exceptional weekend at Lunar. "Above all else Lunar is a music festival and those that have been before will know our line-up is well crafted and eclectic with absolutely no space fillers; 2018 will be no different, expect to see the best in Psychedelia, Electronica, Americana, World/Roots and all sorts of genre-defying but fundamentally great music.

"After the live music finishes on the Lunar Stage, you have a rich choice of high-calibre DJs and audio-visual treats to keep you entertained into the small hours.

"We will also have a number of talks and debates at the festival, aimed at providing different perspectives on life in modern Britain. Topics will include health, the environment, literature, UK culture and more."

Goldfrapp will be among the most popular bands at this weekend's event, with Alison Goldfrapp and Will Gregory playing a greatest hits set. They released their seventh album, Silver Eye, last year, which debuted at number six on the UK chart.

"I think writing an album is like being lost in a wood," says Will Gregory. "You're trying to figure out

After the live music finishes, you have a rich choice of high calibre DJs an interesting path. You don't know whether it's going to be a dead end or somewhere interesting and you never know when to stop because around the corner some beautiful vista might open up."

Alison and Will have been finding new paths through the forest since their 2000 debut album Felt Mountain, never going the same way twice. "We've never liked repeating ourselves," says Alison. "Often we react to things we've just done. We like the spontaneity of not knowing. It's only through the process that we start to figure out what it is. The fans who have stuck with us are the ones who embrace that idea and are excited by the thought that they don't know quite what to expect next."

If 2013's Tales of Us, a set of noirish folk fables, roamed the same pastoral landscape as Felt Mountain and Seventh Tree, then Silver Eye (a reference to the moon) belonged to the pulsing, electronic lineage of Black Cherry and Supernature only deeper and darker.

The common thread between these two modes, apart from the consistently exquisite arrangements and Alison's extraordinary voice, was a set of enduring preoccupations, which informed both the lyrics and the visual aesthetic.

"Mysticism, ecstasy, ritual, contemplation, metamorphosis, the elemental," says Alison, who took all of the photographs and creatively directed all artwork visuals. "I've realised that there are things I feel passionate about on a deep level and they were in the record."

Silver Eye features dance music, which evokes a pagan ritual rather than a club soundtrack. Cold, metallic electronics with a hot current of blood running through them. Cinematic pop music with a twist. A celebration of the thirst for transformation and intense sensation. A 21st century moon dance. It weaves together the two strands of Goldfrapp's music like never before.

The Stranglers are perennial favourites and were on the road earlier this year with their Definitive Tour.

Audiences can expect to be swept up high on the wave of The Stranglers' powerful sound during what is always an exhilarating live experience; pounding rhythms, soaring melodies, quirky humour and thrillingly daring musicianship will come together again.

Step On with Happy Mondays

Join the 14 hour party people for Shiiine On Shiine On, a one-day indie rock and dance festival at Birmingham's Genting Arena next month, will feature more than 30 Britpop, 'Madchester' and post-punk acts.

It will be headlined by dance pioneers Orbital. Renowned for their headline slots at Glastonbury, they will perform their full festival show at the arena.

Indie heroes Shed Seven, who are riding high on the success of their recent top 10 album Instant Pleasures, and Happy Mondays also play the main stage. Shaun Ryder will support himself with a Black Grape set earlier in the day. The main stage will also feature performances by previous headliners of the Shiine On Weekender, Embrace, who are celebrating a top five album with Love Is A Basic Need, and Cast.

Also playing the main stage at the September 8 event is Glasvegas while on the Forum Live stage there will be a rare festival performance from Julian Cope.

The support cast includes The Wedding Present, Gang Of Four, A Certain Ratio, The Stairs, The Membranes, Psyence, Deja Vega, Smoove & Turell, Reverend and The Makers, Dreadzone, Bentley Rhythm Ace, Jim Bob, Clint Boon, and young Birmingham band Ivory Wave.

The bands play on five stages from 1 to 11pm and there is a Hacienda party until 3am with Todd Terry, Marshall Jefferson and Jon Dasilva, plus a Northern Soul DJ set from Ocean Colour Scene's Steve Cradock. There is a food village and craft ales. Tickets cost £59.50, see www.shiineon.com/one-day-festival

Matt is aiming to make you move it!

MATT Terry, winner of 2016's The X Factor is announced to play Alex The Lion in Madagascar – The Musical at selected performances at the New Alexandra Theatre this summer.

The new adaptation of the smash DreamWorks animated motion picture is being staged in Birmingham from Tuesday (July 31) until Saturday (August 4). Matt, pictured, will join the cast for the Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday performances.

Since winning the The X Factor,

Matt had a top three hit with the Ed Sheeran-penned winner's single When Christmas Comes Around, has released his debut album Trouble with first single from the album, Sucker For You, notching up nearly 60 million streams on Spotify.

Since then Matt featured on Enrique Iglesias's smash single Subeme La Radio alongside Sean Paul.

Matt said: 'I am so excited to be making my acting debut. I can't wait to be playing the lead role of Alex and bringing him to life. Expect incredible costume, set and cast. And the music is immense!'

Alex maybe the king of the urban jungle in New York's Central Park, but he and best friends Marty the zebra, Melman the giraffe and Gloria the hippo, face a challenging time when they escape from blissful captivity with the help of some prodigious penguins, and end up in King Julien's Madagascar.

The new musical features an upbeat score that aims to make you 'Move it, move it'. It is directed by award-winning Kirk Jameson with choreography from Fabian Aloise, design by Tom Rogers and puppet direction from Emma Brunton.

Cinema date with king of the waltz

Superstar violinist André Rieu is coming to a cinema near you when his Maastricht concerts are screened via satellite. The king of the waltz's Amore My Tribute to Love concerts are in André's hometown in the Netherlands, where his Johann Strauss Orchestra will perform. It is screened on Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon at the Lighthouse Wolverhampton, plus screenings at Showcase Dudley/W'hampton, Cineworld W'hampton, Light Cinema Walsall and the Odeon Merry Hill.

Wizards go loco for express SVR service

A magical gathering will take place at Severn Valley Railway next month, as it launches its first ever Wizards Express services.

The railway has now added two extra dates to the two already scheduled and has urged those interested to book early to avoid disappointment.

Budding wizards are invited to grab their wands and cloaks to head to the SVR on August 1, 15, 16 and 22 for a magical journey. The services depart from Kidderminster at 11am, 1.40pm and 4.20pm on all four dates. Tickets are £100 for a table of four.

Victoria Carman, marketing and communications manager, said: "This is our first venture into the world of wizardry and we have got a whole cauldron-full of magical fun to be had." To book visit www.svr.co.uk/wizardexpress

FILM CHOICES

MONDAY
The Entertainer, BBC2, 12pm
 A down-at-heel comedian looks back at his failure both as an entertainer and as a man. John Osborne's drama, with Laurence Olivier. (1960)

TUESDAY
Love Is a Many Splendored Thing, BBC2, 12.05pm
 A married American news correspondent reporting on the Korean War from his base in Hong Kong falls in love with a widowed Eurasian doctor - but he is unable to get a divorce and the couple find themselves forced to keep their relationship a secret. Romantic drama based on the memoirs of Han Suyin, with William Holden, Jennifer Jones and Torin Thatcher. (1955)

WEDNESDAY
The Seven Little Foys, BBC2, 12pm
 Biopic of popular vaudeville star Eddie Foy, whose life and career fell apart when his wife died young, leaving him to raise seven children on his own. However, love of the limelight proved irresistible and his manager succeeded in persuading him to work the children into his act - despite the protests of his sister-in-law. With Bob Hope, Milly Vitale, George Tobias and a cameo by James Cagney. (1955)

The Break-Up, Friday, ITV, 10.45pm

THURSDAY
I Was Monty's Double, BBC2, 12pm
 Fact-based drama about actor and army officer ME Clifton-James, whose remarkable resemblance to General Montgomery saw him selected for a special assignment during the Second World War. He was trained to imitate the general perfectly, and sent on a tour of North Africa to keep the real Montgomery's whereabouts unknown to the enemy. Clifton-James stars as both himself and Monty, alongside John Mills and Cecil Parker. (1958)

FRIDAY
The Break-Up, ITV, 10.45pm
 A couple's relationship comes to an end, but neither wants to give up their home, forcing them to carry on living together. Comedy drama, starring Jennifer Aniston, Vince Vaughn, Jon Favreau and Joey Lauren Adams. (2006)

Checking in for a new series with more famous faces

Making TV programmes isn't easy. Everyone wants to create a hit, but how do you do that? Some producers decide to copy a previous show's success, making it just different enough to avoid any trouble.

The brains behind The Real Marigold Hotel did something very smart indeed. They took the premise of the film The Best Exotic Marigold Hotel and tried to find out if British pensioners really could make their pensions stretch further by moving to India.

"BBC Two has a strong track record of creating bold new factual formats and Marigold proved to be an instant break through," says the channel's editor, Patrick Holland. "Who would have thought that a show about retirement would become such a hit with audiences young and old?"

Well, perhaps it's down to the fact that we are, according to statistics, an ageing nation, so the subject matter appeals to more of us - we're either around the same age as the participants or, if we're lucky, we will be one day and want to know what options lay ahead.

The first series saw the celebrities spend three weeks sampling the sights and sounds of Jaipur, capital of the state of Rajasthan in Northern India. They set up home in a haven - a private mansion - where they had to work out whether they could take care of themselves or need staff to lend a hand.

That run proved to be so popular that the second series moved to BBC One, with a new batch of famous faces setting up home in Kochi; two spin-offs saw celebs from both seasons travelling to Florida, Kyoto, China, Cuba, Iceland and Thailand. Now a third series is upon us.

"We've got a brilliant line up of famous faces checking into The Real Marigold Hotel," says David Clews, director of production company Twofour. "They're a fabulous and funny mix of characters, honest and open about their personal stories, and all of them excited to explore what retirement has to offer in the vibrant and beautiful city of Udaipur.

"We've got our first married couple too, which adds a brand new dynamic. It's going to be the best series yet."

One of the joys of the programme is seeing new friendships form between the participants - and they're certainly a mixed bag this time around.

It's hard to imagine what former newsreader Selina Scott and actors Stephanie Beacham and Susan George will find to say to Ian and Janette Tough, aka The Krankies; they simply come from very different worlds.

But the Toughs will, you would think, bond with fellow comedian Syd Little. He also moves into their idyllic new home on the shores of Lake Pichola alongside ex-EastEnders Peter Dean, former jockey Bob Champion and author Stanley 'father of Boris' Johnson, who knows how celebrity-driven shows work having spent time in I'm a Celebrity... Get Me Out of Here!

The Real Marigold Hotel, Wednesday, BBC1, 9pm

BEST OF THE REST

Lorry Ladies BBC1, 7.30pm
 Angela Rippon is a trailblazer. Back in the 1970s, she became the first woman to regularly present the news for the BBC. As a result, her fame transcended her day job and she popped up on numerous other programmes, even showing off her previously unknown dance talents to great effect alongside Eric and Ernie on the 1976 Morecambe and Wise Christmas Show. Now she's meeting fellow trailblazers, albeit of a different kind. Female lorry drivers aren't exactly unheard of, but those she interviews during a trip to Northern Ireland have taken the profession to a new level. Here they talk about their passion for the open road and why, after a long week behind the wheel, like nothing better than attending truck festivals across the country.

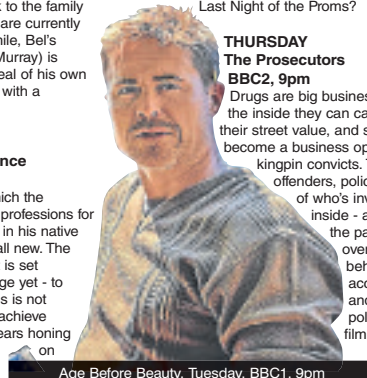

TUESDAY
Age Before Beauty BBC1, 9pm
 Before she gave us the revamped Poldark, writer Debbie Horsfield scored a hit with the hairdressing drama series Cutting It. Now, she's going back to her roots with the new series Age Before Beauty, which, like its predecessor, is set in a Manchester salon - although it turns out that the beauty industry has moved on a lot since Cutting It's noughties heyday. Hopefully, Bel Finch (Polly Walker) will be able to catch up on the changing trends though. She's suffering from empty-nest syndrome after dropping her teenage kids off at university, so her brother-in-law Teddy (Robson Green) suggest she comes back to the family salon, which the rest of the clan are currently running into the ground. Meanwhile, Bel's joiner husband Wesley (James Murray) is embarking on a new business deal of his own as he comes to an arrangement with a glamorous personal trainer.

Rhod Gilbert's Work Experience BBC2, 10pm
 The eighth run of the show in which the comedian gets to try a variety of professions for size has already been broadcast in his native Wales, but for the rest of us, it's all new. The four-part series begins as Gilbert is set perhaps his most difficult challenge yet - to become a classical musician. This is not something he's going to be able achieve overnight; professionals spend years honing their skills before stepping out on stage. As you may have already guessed, he isn't going to be handed a violin or oboe and told to get on with it. Instead, he learns which instrument (he doesn't play one to any kind of standard) suits him best before receiving lots of help from the BBC National Orchestra of Wales. But will he be good enough to join them on stage during the Last Night of the Proms?

THURSDAY
The Prosecutors BBC2, 9pm
 Drugs are big business in prisons. On the inside they can can catch four times their street value, and serving time can become a business opportunity for kingpin convicts. To prosecute the offenders, police need evidence of who's involved on the inside - and who's flying the packages in. Filmed over a year, with behind-the-scenes access to the CPS and West Mercia police, this two-part film follows Senior Crown Prosecutor Eran

Age Before Beauty, Tuesday, BBC1, 9pm

Cutliffe as she works to build an extraordinarily complex case against a network of people - both inside and outside prisons - who are using drone technology to exploit the captive market. With insights behind the scenes at court, we see how deals are made and the tensions between gang members who are charged together in a conspiracy.

FRIDAY
European Championships 2018 BBC2, 5.15pm
 The 11-day celebration of European sport continues with the second day's events Glasgow. The Tollcross International Swimming Centre hosts the semi-finals of the women's 50m freestyle and 100m butterfly, as well as the men's 50m backstroke and 100m breaststroke. The latter should feature Olympic gold-medalist Adam Peaty as he steps up his 'Project 56' bid and aims to become the first swimmer to dip below 57 seconds in the event. Plus, there are finals in the women's 400m IM, featuring Scottish favourite Hannah Miley, and 4x100m freestyle relay, as well as the men's 400m freestyle and 4x100m freestyle relay. Over at the Sir Chris Hoy Velodrome, the qualifiers in the men's and women's team sprint and team pursuit take place, before the finals in the team sprints and scratch races.

Here playing adult is as easy as ABC

RAA RAA! You are! A noisy little lion! Raa Raa! You are! Louder than, them all! In the cubby-buggy – cubby-buggy hear me call!

This is the song that perpetually goes round and round in my head. It's that or the theme tune to Baby Jake which, if that's the case, means I've been up since before dawn watching the test cards and waiting for CBeebies to start.

Any parent of young kids will understand these are life's truly dark moments. What's worse is that the punishment doesn't end there because for the rest of the day the theme tune to some daft children's programme will do consecutive cartwheels in your head. And while I love having my little girl, sometimes I just want to be an adult again.

LAVISH

If you feel you really can't parent today then ditch the kids (i.e find a responsible adult to look after them for at least a few hours) and take yourself off to Fumo by San Carlo at Selfridges.

Here, with its lavish interior and exclusive Champagne bar, playing adult is as easy as ABC. That's not to say children aren't allowed; it's an Italian restaurant where little ones are welcome with open arms.

Fumo opened in Selfridges last September following a £1 million overhaul. It follows a successful branch of Fumo in Waterloo Street, off St Philips Square, on the other side of the city, while its parent restaurant San Carlo has long been a Brum dining scene stalwart. The space on the top floor of Selfridges used to be The Balcony Bar by Searcys, serving up tasty bites like gourmet burgers and afternoon tea, cocktails and exclusive wines.

However, while The Balcony Bar was very nice, I feel

Creamy burrata with Parma ham and rocket

Classy – the renovations have cost £1million

Fumo is a more suitable use of the space, perfect for this high-end department store.

Step through the entrance and arrive in Milan; everything about Fumo feels Italian from the pin-thin sharply-dressed (predominantly Italian) waiters to the ravishing interior resplendent with marble surfaces, dark wood parquet flooring, soft fawn leather chairs and gold accessories.

The menu is centered around Venetian cicchetti – which are medium size dishes, usually shared between friends. Staff recommended we share five or six dishes between two, the only problem being which ones to choose from the extensive menu. As with many places serving little dishes, food arrives from the kitchen when it's ready rather than altogether.

Choices range from pasta dishes to salads and smallish pizzas. There's fish dishes and meat, nibbles and breads. All bases of Italian cuisine are covered, street food, soul food, light bites and more.

Dishes are priced reasonably with most between the £5 to £8 mark. Top of my 'to eat list' was the burrata, that type of mozzarella filled with cream, which here came served with Parma ham and black truffle. Next came the calamari, tender squid pieces in almost-not-there batter. Our table soon filled with exquisite bites. Next a hand-stretched Margherita pizza arrived topped with tomato sauce and mozzarella. It was outstanding.

Due to very full tummies, we did not order dessert. The bill came to £68 including a large bottle of sparkling water and a 10 per cent service charge – a lavish lunch but undoubtedly worth every penny for sublime food and some much-needed adult time.

Two-bedroomed apartment now available to rent

An unfurnished property, this two-bedroomed, second floor apartment in Goodrich Mews, Dudley, is available to rent through Trinity Property at £575 per calendar month.

In a cul-de-sac location, with off-road parking and a secure communal entrance, its accommodation briefly comprises two double bedrooms – master with fitted wardrobes, a large storage room/study, a large lounge/diner with fitted kitchen off, plus a bathroom with a WC and a shower over the bath.

This property comes with double glazing and gas central heating. Sorry, no DSS.

In more detail, there are pleasant communal areas. The lounge/diner has an archway to the modern fitted kitchen. There is a secure entry-phone system to the front of the block, secure code entry to the rear (car park) entrance. The apartment comes with two off-road parking spaces.

This apartment is available to view now.

In more detail, the apartment block is purpose-built to an attractive modern design.

The lounge/diner is spacious and well-presented, having carpeting fitted and decorated out in a neutral, Magnolia shade. This space has a three-windowed bay.

The kitchen is smart and modern, having red high gloss unit cupboards, complemented by grey mottled-effect working surfaces and modern white splash-back tiling.

Both bedrooms are carpeted and well decorated; the master featuring a neutral Magnolia shade, while the second bedroom is decorated out in pink shades. The main bedroom has mirror-fronted wardrobe doors. This space also has two windows.

The bathroom has a modern three-piece suite in white, with full splash-back tiling to the bathing area and a glass shower screen.

Don't let your dog get hot under the collar

Paws for thought to keep dogs cool

Britain is experiencing a scorcher of a summer with temperatures soaring into the 30s during July. Forecasts are expected to stay sunny and hot, which is good news for sun-seekers but the heat can make family dogs feel very hot under the collar.

The current heatwave has led to a surge in calls to the RSPCA. The animal charity has received 2,835 calls over the past month from concerned members of the public, the majority of which related to dogs left in cars.

Temperatures in cars can rise very quickly. Even at a comfortable 22 degrees Celsius outside, a car can reach an unbearable 47 degrees Celsius in under an hour. A dog can die within minutes in a hot car, warning that owners should never risk leaving their dog in the car, even for short periods.

To help raise awareness, Škoda has created a series of pictures called 'Cool Dogs in Cool Cars' featuring RSPCA rescue dogs, to show pet owners that they should never leave a dog alone in a vehicle. When driving the advice is to always keep windows open or use air conditioning to keep pooches in maximum comfort.

"Our pet dogs are part of the family so it's great that so many families choose to take their canine companion with them on holiday and for days out," RSPCA dog welfare expert Lisa Richards said.

"If you face a long journey with your four-legged friend it's really important to make sure everyone is safe, secure and comfortable for the duration of the drive."

Journey

Škoda is known for its pet practicalities and all cars feature ample boot and cabin space for a comfortable journey. Dog accessories such as the dog seatbelt and hammock are part of the Škoda accessories range and are easily fitted to the seatbelts and head rests so that pets can ride safely.

In 2017, the RSPCA received 7,876 calls about animals left in hot environments.

There are things that drivers can do this summer to ensure their pets are safe while travelling, no matter what the distance:

- Never leave your dog alone in the vehicle so they don't get anxious or overheat
- In hot weather, always leave the window slightly open when driving to provide fresh air for your dog. Summer can be a very dangerous time for dogs on their travels
- Always carry food and water with you to keep your dog hydrated
- Invest in appropriate pet restraints, such as a pet barrier or seat belt, to ensure your dog remains in the back of the car throughout your journey
- On long journeys and hot days, take regular breaks to provide water for your dog
- Where possible exercise your dog with a short walk during your breaks
- When the vehicle is moving, don't let a dog hang its head outside car windows, no matter how much they enjoy it!
- Before embarking on a long journey, take your dog on short journeys to get them used to travelling in the car
- Keep a close eye on your pet when travelling to make sure they are not showing signs of travel-related problems such as barking, whining, jumping, salivating, vomiting, cowering or restlessness
- If your dog is nervous when travelling use reward-based training methods. If you continue to have problems visit your vet or a clinical animal behaviourist
- Make sure there aren't any loose items that could harm your dog in the boot or on the back seat of your car
- Bring their favourite blanket or toy to help relax your dog
- Dogs travel better without a full stomach so it's best to feed them more than two hours before you set off
- Travelling crates, dog guards and car harnesses safely secure your pet when travelling. Ensure that the crate is big enough for your dog and is positioned somewhere with good airflow so they don't get too hot
- If you see a dog in a car on a warm day and are concerned for his/her welfare please alert the police by dialling 999

New Rifter leisure activity vehicle to cost from £19,650

Pricing and specification for the all-new Peugeot Rifter has been announced for the UK, starting from £19,650 on-the-road.

The all-new Rifter which adds a unique, robust design and a premium driving experience to the market is available in Active, Allure and GT Line trim levels as either standard length (with five seats) or long length (with seven seats). The Peugeot i-Cockpit® in the all-new Peugeot Rifter offers a more agile and instinctive driving experience thanks to the compact steering wheel, head-up display and large 8" capacitive colour touchscreen.

Active trim includes as standard Lane Keeping Assist, Speed limit recognition and recommendation and Active Safety Brake, air conditioning, electric and heated door mirrors, Bluetooth®, DAB radio and aluminium roof bars. Prices start from £19,650 on-the-road for the short version and £21,570 on-the-road for the long version.

In Allure, the all-new Rifter adds electric rear windows, rear parking sensors, electric parking brake, tray tables at the back of the front seats, 8" capacitive colour touchscreen with Mirror Screen® (compatible with Apple CarPlay™, Android Auto and MirrorLink®) and voice recognition, LED daytime running lights and 16" 'Taranaki' Alloy Wheels. Prices start from £20,920 on-the-road (short version) and £22,620 on-the-road (long version).

The range-topping GT Line, which starts from £22,570 on-the-road in short version and £24,270 on-the-road for the long version, adds extra connected services and comfort features. Peugeot Connect SOS and Assistance and Connected 3D Navigation is standard along with keyless entry, automatic dual zone climate control, power folding mirrors, Zénith® panoramic glass roof with numerous storage spaces & electric interior blind and 17" 'Aoraki' alloy wheels.

The new Peugeot Rifter is available with the latest range of Peugeot engines, including the award-winning 1.2 PureTech 110 S&S petrol engine with 6-speed manual gearbox, as well as the acclaimed 1.5 BlueHDi 130 S&S, with a 6-speed manual or 8-speed automatic gearbox.

Bianca White is the standard colour for all trims, with Onyx Black and Ardent Red available as options. Metallic paint in five colours (Cumulus Grey, Nimbus Grey, Pearl Sand, Deep Blue and Sunset Copper) can also be specified on Active, Allure and GT Line.

The Rifter additionally offers Advanced Grip Control® with Mud & Snow tyres improving traction control through continuous action on wheel spin. This works in combination with the Hill Assist Descent Control, which automatically maintains optimal speed on steep slopes.

David Peel, managing director of PeugeotUK, said: "As the spiritual successor to the Peugeot Partner Tepee, the all-new Rifter builds on its most successful elements, while going one step further by mixing SUV characteristics with the traditional practicality and versatility to revolutionise the sector."

Commercial vehicle range keeping diesel alive

Diesel engines still have a future at Ford, according to the Blue Oval's powertrain chief, but almost entirely because the firm's commercial vehicle customers demand it.

Speaking at the launch of the new Focus – itself benefitting from two new diesel engines from launch – Ford of Europe chief powertrain engineer Simon Palmer hinted that with diesel-powered cars becoming ever more complex and expensive, it's not passenger car sales that are keeping development worthwhile.

"We're seeing a significant reduction in demand for diesel engines on passenger cars – and even more so on small passenger cars," Palmer said.

"I think we can all see that the divide between gasoline and diesel in small and medium passenger cars – in terms of fuel efficiency – is reducing, and so the business case as an individual for buying a diesel is far weaker today than it was five or 10 years ago.

"We have to remember as well, diesel engines require a significant amount of after-treatment and engine technology to meet the latest emission standards.

"So in short they are expensive, and you have to balance that out with the

Ford says there is still a need for diesel engines on commercial vehicles affordability of small passenger cars," he said.

Despite this – and the current 'demonisation' of the fuel across Europe – Ford has invested heavily in the development of two all-new 'EcoBlue' diesels in the last 18 months: a 1.5 and a 2.0-litre in various states of tune. Why? Customers of its profitable commercial vehicle range still rely on diesel.

"We still see a need for diesel engines on commercial vehicles, and obviously what we're looking to do is try and protect our diesel engines' longevity," Palmer explained.

"If demand [for diesel in passenger cars] is there, we are positioned in such a way that we can respond to it".

Toyota C-HR gets new design grade

By James Parker

Toyota's sharply styled C-HR has blazed a trail through the crossover market since its launch in late 2016, speeding its way into the top three of the company's best-selling models in double-quick time. Now its customer appeal is being increased with the introduction of a richly specified new Design grade, additional equipment features, fresh interior treatments and a bold new colour choice.

Cool looks aside, C-HR continues to win favour thanks to its smooth and highly efficient hybrid electric powertrain option – currently the pick of 77 per cent of customers – and its rewarding driving characteristics, derived directly from its TNGA (Toyota New Global Architecture Platform).

Smart

The new C-HR Design comes with an equipment specification that majors on style and on-board comfort and convenience. On the outside, it sports 18-inch alloy wheels, rear privacy glass and auto-folding heated door mirrors with integrated turn indicators. Welcoming entry illumination and ambient cabin lighting are also part of the package, together with smart entry and push-button start.

The front seats both have integrated heaters and power-adjustable lumbar support. The Toyota Touch 2 with Go multimedia system comes with an intuitive central touchscreen control, navigation functions and access to online services.

Front and rear sensors, plus Intelligent Park

There is now a bold new colour choice

Assist make for hassle-free manoeuvring into and out of parking spaces.

These features are all in addition to the established Icon trim, which includes a reversing camera, dual-zone automatic air conditioning, an electronic parking brake and the Toyota Safety Sense suite of active safety and driver assistance functions.

For 2018, C-HR Excel models gain full black leather upholstery and rear LED lights. For the Dynamic grade there are new matt black 18-inch alloys, black fabric upholstery and a cool silver trim line on the dashboard. For customers who want to make a stand-out statement with their C-HR, the model can now be specified in vibrant Cyan Blue paintwork; a host of customisation options allows for an even more personalised look, including contrast colours for the side sills, front bumper inserts, lower boot trim, fog light surrounds and door mirror covers.

Design and Dynamic models can be specified with optional leather upholstery and a premium JBL sound system – individually or

On the outside, it sports 18-inch alloy wheels, rear privacy glass and auto-folding heated door mirrors with integrated turn indicators in a combined pack. The more powerful audio system can also be obtained for the C-HR Excel.

The Icon model can be upgraded with a Tech Pack option that includes smart entry, a Blind Spot Monitor, Rear Cross Traffic Alert, Lane Departure Alert with steering assist and auto-folding mirrors (for the 1.2T Icon the pack also provides smart entry and push-button start).

The Toyota C-HR is available with a 1.8-litre hybrid electric powertrain, or with a 1.2-litre turbocharged petrol engine. The 1.2T is offered with six-speed manual transmission and front-wheel drive, or continuously variable auto transmission with all-wheel drive; the hybrid version is front-wheel drive only. Combined cycle fuel consumption for the hybrid is 74.3mpg with 86g/km CO2 emissions; for the 1.2T the figures from 42.1mpg and 135g/km respectively.

The new 2018 Toyota C-HR is available to order now. On-the-road prices start at £21,880.

One millionth Nissan Juke rolls off the production line

Milestone for compact crossover

The one millionth Nissan Juke has been produced at the company's manufacturing site in Sunderland.

The compact crossover has proved immensely popular, and demand remains strong eight years after the car's launch. On average, a new Juke rolls off the Sunderland production line every 105 seconds.

Kevin Fitzpatrick, senior vice-president of manufacturing, supply chain management and purchasing for Nissan Europe, said: "Reaching the one million milestone is a fantastic achievement for any model. "Eight years ago, we had never seen anything like the Juke before – it created an entirely new segment and brought a distinctive never-seen-before look to the market. Fast-forward to today and we have one million customers and Juke remains the segment leader.

"It's terrific to see that the 2018 model, with all its improvements and personalisation options, is as popular as the version that rolled off the line for the first time in 2010."

The Nissan Juke was the second crossover to be built at the Sunderland plant following the Qashqai, and statistics show that during its lifetime black has been the most popular exterior colour option.

A multitude of customisation choices means more than 23,000 Juke possibilities are available for European customers.

In total, 95,000 Jukes were sold across the continent in 2017, while an update was introduced recently to help keep the crossover current.

How to improve a car's performance by 70%

The effectiveness consultancy Benchmarking recently analysed what happens when companies include press advertising in their media mix.

They looked at more than 500 econometric models, covering a five-year period and, as the table here shows, they found that adding newspapers dramatically increases the effectiveness of other media.

In the automotive sector they reviewed companies that ranged from the big spending German goliaths of the industry to medium sized independent carmakers.

And they discovered that by adding newspaper advertising to their campaigns, they cranked up their effectiveness by over 70%.

NOTICE TO READERS Please be aware that when purchasing a puppy there are some simple guidelines you can follow to ensure that you are not purchasing from a Puppy Farmer:

1. Try to ensure you visit the puppy whilst it is still with its Mother.
2. Do not arrange to collect a puppy from any other location than that of the breeder.
3. Ensure that you are given any KC documentation, if pedigree. Whilst Midland News Association publications take great care to avoid publication of advertisements from Puppy Farmers we cannot accept any liability should readers purchase from this kind of establishment.

Checkatrade Trophy fate now revealed

WOLVES, Albion and Walsall all learned their Checkatrade Trophy fate after the draw for the group stage was completed.

All 48 League One and League Two clubs were drawn into 16 groups earlier this month.

But the 16 invited clubs from the Premier League and Championship – who will all field under-21 sides – were later added in.

Wolves have been drawn in Group H and will take on Scunthorpe, last season's winners Lincoln City and Mansfield Town.

Albion, who are in Group C, will face Accrington, Blackpool and Macclesfield.

While Walsall – who reached the final of the competition in 2015 – have been placed in Group E alongside Burton, Port Vale and Middlesbrough.

Arsenal, Chelsea, Tottenham and Manchester City are among those to enter teams into the competition this year.

Finch passes Test with flying colours

HIMLEY paceman Adam Finch enhanced his growing reputation by helping to fire England Under-19s to a series victory over South Africa.

The 18-year-old Worcestershire seamer took eight wickets in the second Test as England won by four wickets at the Emirates Riverside to seal a 2-0 triumph.

Wordsley-born Finch, who plays regularly for Himley in the Birmingham League, bagged 4-22 as South Africa, who had a first innings lead of 76, were rolled over for just 90 in their second innings. That impressive burst followed his first innings haul of 4-47.

Finch had also shown his determination with the bat in England's first knock, steadying the innings by digging in to make an unbeaten 16 from 82 balls in 138 minutes.

Finch and his New Road team-mate Jack Haynes, who scored 28 and 27 in the Test, will now join up with England for the one-day series between the two countries.

Malik star turn with impressive batting

MAZEN Malik has started the season in fine style for the Staffordshire Wolves visually impaired cricket team.

Wolves have had a mixed opening with one victory, two draws and a defeat in four clashes. But Malik has been the star turn thanks to some impressive displays with the bat.

Malik and Janaid Mohammed both scored half-centuries while skipper Matt Boulding made 42 as Wolves piled up 199-6 from 26 overs against Herefordshire Bulldogs, who were rolled over in reply for 88.

That was followed by a loss against Lancashire Lions, who made 185-6 before bowling Wolves out for 113. Wolves were forced to hang on for a draw in the return clash with the Bulldogs. Malik top scored with 26 in a total of 79-6 after the Bulldogs had posted 199-3.

Malik then excelled against Wavertree Merseyside at Wolverhampton CC with an unbeaten 89 in Wolves' 180-8. In reply, Wavertree Merseyside ended on 150-4.

Ex-Portsmouth player Linvoy Primus helped set up a charity with Moore

Cyrille Regis, also a Christian, who would have been part of Darren's team

Darren hopes Albion will have faith in the future

WHEN Darren Moore went back to Fratton Park with Albion as a player, he used to take the unusual measure of meeting up with the opposition players in the kit room before the game.

But this was not a catch-up with former team-mates, it was an opportunity to pray with Portsmouth's flourishing Christian contingent.

A huge, hulking centre-back, Moore was a formidable presence on the pitch, as any striker who competed against him would attest to.

Off the pitch there is still the same determination driving the man forward, but there is also a calming warmth and amiable manner. Moore found Christianity during his time at Bradford City and, since then, faith has played a huge role in his life.

Linvoy Primus was one of those members of the Portsmouth prayer group, and remains close to the Baggies boss to this day.

"There were nine players at Portsmouth who were Christians," Primus said. "Whenever Darren came back with West Brom he would come in and pray.

"It was a unique thing that happened but it was a place where you could get some peace."

Bradford

In 2002, Primus and Moore helped set up the Faith and Football charity with former player Micky Mellows and Primus now offers support to Christians in the game through another charity called Christians In Sport.

Moore's faith has already played a role during his time in charge of the Baggies. Wayne Jacobs, who was his team-mate at Bradford, is a Christian too and one of the reasons Moore turned to the religion.

Jacobs was the unseen member of Moore's coaching staff during his spell as caretaker and Moore is planning to use the man he trusts again next season.

Primus believes Moore's faith will play a huge role in his approach to management. "Darren's been in the industry for a very long time.

"His identity isn't going to be defined by the job he's got, his identity is in the person he follows, which is Christ," he said.

SPORTING FEATURE

By Matt Wilson

"Darren's got some really good tools, he'll be hard-working, honest and transparent with the players..."

Lee Bradbury was also playing at Portsmouth near the start of the century, and remains close friends with Moore. He manages Havant & Waterlooville, and has just guided them to back-to-back titles that have taken the Hawks into the National League.

The 42-year-old employs a chaplain at his club and believes Moore's faith will support him in the season ahead. "Darren's got some really good tools, he'll be hardworking, honest and transparent with the players," said Bradbury.

"And they know those qualities that he's got are genuine, rather than for an ulterior motive. He'll stay true to himself and his faith will help him along the way. Jesus has helped him get to where he is, so he's more than happy to put his faith in God."

Bradbury came up and stayed with Moore on the weekend of Albion's stunning victory over Tottenham at The Hawthorns towards the end of last season.

At the time, Jake Livermore's 92nd-minute winner kept alive the club's slim hopes of survival.

"The place was buzzing!" recalled Bradbury. "You could feel that the fans wanted him to get the job because of the connection they have for him. They might not have met him, but he's a family man, and he's trying to instil those qualities at the club."

Bradbury expects Moore to employ a club chaplain at Albion in the coming months, and it's something he'd recommend. "Some players don't want to talk to managers, so to have someone who people can trust and speak openly to is really important," he said.

"Everyone's got different faiths, if you can help them be comfortable in the workplace, that's half the battle."

It's not just the players that need that support network. The man himself also needs someone to lean on, even if it looks like nothing would ever topple him. Every six months, Moore meets up with a support network for Christians in football run by Primus through the Christians in Sport charity.

Depending on availability, the group can range from between half a dozen people to upwards of 30. They meet in hotel foyers, restaurants, and even training grounds, whatever is convenient.

"There's a number of Christian footballers and coaches in the Midlands so we try and get the group together," explained Primus.

"Ultimately, we ask how does God say you should deal with these things? Cyrille Regis used to come along as well."

Regis was a Christian too, and used to attend the same large family church as Moore, the Renewal Christian Centre in Solihull.

Support

The legendary Albion striker was Moore's mentor and would have been a part of his team next season had he not passed away so suddenly at the age of 59.

Regis was one of a kind, but Primus hopes that gap on Moore's journey ahead will be filled by others from the church who will offer their support.

"His local church will be part of that support, with that support he will be able to move forward and get through. It's more about the man than the job that he's doing."

Albion's new head coach has a strong affinity to the surrounding community. He grew up playing football in an underpass in Handsworth, and is well aware of the importance of the club to those who follow it.

Sixteen years ago he helped set up Faith and Football with Primus, a community charity aimed at serving local areas in Portsmouth and Handsworth.

"We really wanted to look at the way we serve the community," said Primus. "We knew football would be an easy draw, everyone likes football. I think it's an exciting time for the club. This is what he's wanted to do, he's always wanted to be the manager."

Stour subs steady ship after scare

Stourport Swifts 1 Stourbridge 2
GLASSBOYS claimed their first win of the pre-season build-up with substitutes Rob Thompson-Brown and Paul McCone netting for the visitors after Andy Nicol had been Stourport ahead.

There was a new face in goal with 19-year old keeper Niall Maher on trial having been released by Morecambe, while three of last season's squad – Darryl Westlake, Aaron Forde and Leon Broadhurst – got their first minutes under their belt after missing the games at AFC Wulfrunians and Lye Town.

Stourbridge gradually imposed themselves on the home side, Jake Evans thwarted by a splendid tackle by Rudy Misambo. A minute later a right-wing cross from Luke Benbow just evaded Kaiman Anderson at the far post. Soon afterwards Broadhurst's header was comfortably saved by former Stourbridge youth team keeper Dominic Richards.

Out of the blue Stourport opened the scoring in the 29th minute as the visitors appealed in vain for offside. Nicol fired an angled low shot across Maher and into the far corner of the net.

Glassboys got back on level terms on 38 minutes when Aris Christophorou squared the ball to Thompson-Brown and the summer signing notched his second goal in pre-season with a curling shot that beat the diving Richards.

Anderson might have made it two in the 41st minute as his low effort went inches past Richards' left-hand upright and on the stroke of half-time Benbow cracked an effort goal-wards that Richards parried away.

On 78 minutes McCone was able to turn the ball over the line from close range.

Himley bowl back from the brink

BROCKHAMPTON missed an opportunity to gain ground on fellow strugglers Himley after they dismissed them for 121 in the Birmingham League division one.

Freddie Cross (4-35) and Jamie McIlroy (3-34) were, chiefly, responsible for Himley's demise but Brockhampton failed to take advantage, slipping to an eight-run defeat after former Brockhampton all-rounder Chris Boroughs took 5-39. Once Ian Bullock (68) was dismissed at 110-9, the game changed in Himley's favour.

Halesowen's resounding 174 run win, at Oswestry moves them up to third place in division two after they amassed an impressive 352-5 at Morda Road.

Stourbridge's lead at the top of the division three table has been trimmed to 13 points after they were held to a winning draw by Milford Hall. A Stour total of 163 all out owed much to 61 from Nathan Crudeli as Stuart Phazey took 4-35 for Milford who held on at 142-9.

Perks and Hampshire ride to the rescue

Ellis Perks with Heathens

BRITISH Under 21 star Ellis Perks makes a return to the Motor Market Heathens after racing for them in 2015 when they spent a full season racing at Perry Barr.

Perks, the nephew of former Heathens rider Dave, steps in for injured skipper Adam Roynon in the winner-takes-all battle on Wednesday, August 1, at Birmingham's Perry Barr track.

And he's joined by former Birmingham rider Taylor Hampshire, who steps in for Chris Widman. Both Widman and Roynon are on the injured list.

Heathens co-boss Gary Patchett said: "We are keen to beat Birmingham and make it through to the National Trophy final and we felt we had to make these moves. Hopefully they won't be just for one meeting!"

"We feel so sad for Adam and Chris, two terrific lads, but that's the way speedway goes and we wish them well for their recovery."

"Ellis was very keen to join us and, in fact, he's been in touch in the previous two years expressing a desire to come back to Cradley."

"He will also take his place in the Golden Hammer meeting at Monmore on August 13."

Meanwhile, determined Wolverhampton survived a mid-meeting mini scare to see off Belle Vue 49-41 at Monmore Green as they recorded back-to-back home wins.

Stand-in Sam added to TV big fight bill

STOURBRIDGE'S Sam Eggington is set to fight in front of a global TV audience after he was added to the undercard for Dillian Whyte's crunch heavyweight clash with Joseph Parker.

The fight, which will take place at The O2 in London on Saturday, is being shown live on Sky Box Office.

Eggington has stepped up at short notice after injury forced Sheffield's Kell Brook to withdraw from his title eliminator with Brandon Cook.

The Black Country fighter, who recently moved up to super-welterweight, admitted he has been presented with an opportunity that is too good to turn down.

"I'm buzzing to get back to the O2 on a massive PPV (pay per view) show," said Eggington. "There was no way I was turning down this fight when they offered it to me."

"Cook likes to come forward and fight so I'm predicting a war, he's going to try and make it a hard night for me."

"He's ranked highly in three governing bodies so getting a win against him would do me wonders."

"Moving up to super-welterweight has given me even more energy to grind down my opponents and do damage late on and I'll be looking to do exactly that next week."

Canadian Cook said: "All of my hard work in the gym isn't going to waste and I'm excited to show the British public what I'm all about. Sam is a tough opponent so I'll need to be at my very best."

NO LIMITS TO PAIR'S SUCCESS

FOUR wins and a second-placed finish out of five rounds – the season could not have started better for the Double Two Racing boys, who stormed to another victory.

Black Country pair Pete Wright and Martyn Siviter have moved up into the Club 600 class in the No Limits endurance series.

The team arrived at Croft full of confidence having won both the Club 600 and National 600 classes during the previous round at Anglesey in Wales. And they showed no signs of any rustiness in Yorkshire as they once again dominated their class to take another comfortable victory.

Wright, from Tividale, said: "Confidence was high as and we always enjoy the quirky, toughness of the fast and flowing Croft circuit."

Temperatures

Friday's test day started with fairly heavy skies and cooler temperatures, and the Track Prep team – which has been doing vital work for Double Two Racing behind the scenes all season – were on hand to set the bike up suitably for the unique surface.

The set up seemed to work as during qualifying, which lasted 45 minutes, both riders went out for a quick lap after two warm-ups, placing the bike first on the grid in class and 13th overall. Siviter, from Blackheath, started the race and got off to a flyer, entering the first corner in sixth place overall and first in class.

Wright kept the pace going and soon the team was two laps ahead, while Track Prep was busy refuelling Siviter's bike, checking tyre pressure and flipping the rear tyre.

With Siviter sent on his way, he increased the lead to three laps, ensuring could Wright could bring the bike home for a fourth win in five rounds.

Double Two Racing joined sponsors Ange and John Gaskell, of Revs Suspension Services, in Halesowen, earlier this month for a charity golf day at Cleobury Mortimer Golf Club, in south Shropshire.

The day saw individuals and teams compete over 18 holes in aid of the Rainbow Cancer Care Foundation, which supports UK charities such as Cancer Research UK and Macmillan Cancer Support.

Wright said: "Double Two Racing has supported it for the last two years and this year the charity was celebrating its 10th anniversary. John sponsors our team and I've known him since I was 15 years old. We are always delighted to help out such a worthy cause."

"The team bought along both race bikes, sponsored two holes and auctioned off prizes such as a hospitality day out at one of our races and an amazing chance to see the British Superbike premier finale showdown event at Brands Hatch, donated by our race organisers, No Limits Racing."

"They also donated the use of their private suite with full hospitality on race day."

"We were overwhelmed to make £500 on the day for the foundation and we were also joined on the day by our sponsors, Central Accident and Central Classic Restoration, which supported the team and the charity very generously last year."

"All in all it was a great day and thanks go to everyone who was involved."

Neal cannot wait to get on the grid

STOURBRIDGE racer Matt Neal is looking forward to playing his part in history as he joins the grid for the 60th anniversary weekend of the British Touring Cars Championship.

Snetterton hosts a special triple-header of racing for the big occasion on July 28 and 29. Neal, currently third in the BTCC standings, said: "It is an honour to play a part in another landmark weekend for the BTCC as a Honda driver. While qualifying and race one will certainly be a challenge given the success ballast we'll be carrying, the recent test demonstrated the Civic Type R is in its element at Snetterton."
